In the evening a Gypsy camp with a ten Fiji Islanders as a side show was arranged in regular gypsy style and the children's orchestra and men and women were arrayed in costume to correspond. There were four ten with local fortune tellers and many of our town folk forgot the things of the past and a future with a rosy hue. The affair closed at 11 o'clock marking one of the most enjoyable and financial successes of these many affairs. About $300 was cleared.

SOCIAL EDUCATION

BY NEWBOLD HAZARD

Author of the Human Limit

(Copyright 1909 by Edwin Chase Merrill)

One class of people have found by experience that a multitude of ideas continually running through the brain is very delightful; so they spend their time in thinking them out without a definite object. Many a nervous headache has been induced in this way as a reactive effect of such indulgence. A multitude of sensations are sought by another class who look to them for the whole of life. Others seek and apparently find life's joys and sorrows through their emotive habits and tragically scorn to look for greater completeness in other directions. Surfeit follows excess, and suffering goes with a chronic habit; yet all pursue their different courses for the same reason: there was a time when they found change and development in the process, but the true source of the development, and the reason of its satisfying effects under abnormal conditions, has either escaped their attention, or, if apparent, no remedy has suggested itself. The danger in special development lies in its abnormality. Development to be continuously satisfying and in harmony with nature's laws, must be all-around. No one can safely specialize without generalizing to a corresponding degree. No man can safely develop his body without giving due attention to the mind; and neither are completed without sufficient regard for the emotive or social qualities. In the growth and development of mental, physical or emotional capacity the leading motive should be a unit made up of all three, or man as a whole.

Variety, which appeals to any one of the parts of threefold man, forces an adjustment of the whole man according to the motive, which, for the time, assumes the leading role. This adjustment is an active process, and is in accordance with Nature's evolutionary law.

In the great variety of motives which fall within the scope of man, the attention should be directed to the leading motive. Self study should begin with ruling tendencies. In the almost endless variety of motives which stir thought, emotion and sensation into adjusting activity, some one is always bound to lead. Those which lead habitually are the ruling motives. In the thought realm, some one, out of the vast number of ideas, occurs in consciousness more often than the others. Hence, they become stronger; in the physical realm, some act becomes easier to perform through the facility gained by repetition than other acts; in the social realm, some motive picture is held before the imaginative consciousness longer and more frequently than others. Every person honestly seeking the fullness of life and who desires it not? should know what these leading motives, thoughts and actions are, and face them squarely; for with an honest purpose, any leading motive can be utilized to the development of the whole man. Please note that the purpose must be honest.

Regard should be paid in self-study to the ruling thought, the ruling feeling and the ruling sensation. When it is fully known what these are, then they can be utilized in the growth of the whole man, or changed into others, if others are better suited to the purpose. Change, being the law of growth, exempts nothing from its dominion.

The motive which rules a man, rules all the diverse motives of his life. All his lesser motives are subservient to it. They all serve the master after the same manner that a body of soldiers follow and obey their captain, or an army its general, or a nation its king. In dealing with an army we seek its general, and nations are reached through their rulers. It is so with the human individual. All the vast number of motives which move a man can be reached through the leading motive.

A person should begin his study of self with a view of development by ascertaining not only the motives which rule him, but their consistency with the demands of equality and balance in the threefold personality. If the unit of balance is found to be unequal, viewing the matter from his three sides, then one of the lesser motives should be made leader. When a ruler rules badly, whether to the detriment of his subjects or the kingdom as a whole, he should be deposed and another sovereign chosen. This can be done in the individual by patient and persistent effort, where a revolution in politics might fall.

We will suppose a case for the sake of illustration. The leading motive of a certain person is to get rich. All other motives are subservient to this one idea. He has a very strong craving for wealth. He loves to accumulate; he lives to amass a fortune. He uses his brains, his body and his soul for this one purpose: to get rich. Now in this instance we do not see anything wrong with this motive, as money and a plenty of it, come in very handy on almost every occasion. Without occasions for spending money, the accumulation of it would seem like sweeping back the tide with a broom, or cutting wood with the back of an axe. In other words it would seem to be a foolish proceeding. Yet the person who desires riches simply for accumulation's sake is possessed with a motive quite as foolish. The motive, or desire, for getting rich is beyond the riches to be legitimate. The only truly sensible motive in accumulating wealth is a clearly defined purpose as to what is to be done with the money after it is collected together. This person may say that with plenty of money he will be enabled to enjoy life. This is very true, providing he has some other things to go with it. It is also possible to enjoy life without a superabundance of cash. This person might be a Croesus with poor health and miss the enjoyment which life contains for every robust constitution.

So the leading motive of this person includes health as a matter of course. It also includes happiness. Now this gentleman, for lady as the case may be, may have wealth and health and still be deprived of that environment of life which is craved, and which moves him to accumulate. He must stand well with himself and others before the wealth or health can be enjoyed.

So again the leading motive for accumulation includes a moral obligation as well as physical.

This will merely emphasize the fact that all legitimate motives are as three-sided in their character as man is, himself. When man recognizes this a little more fully than he does at present, the road to his development will be much smoother than it is under the prevailing dual idea of motive.

AN APPRECIATION OF GAS COMMISSIONER WEED

(Springfield Republican)
 The work of Alonzo R. Weed of Newton on the state gas and electric light commission has been full warfare for the wisdom of his selection, and his appointment is looked for. The commonwealth is fortunate when it can command the services of such a man of mind and temper. He has been unusually faithful, conscientious, and is possessed of high ideals, with a well-balanced and creative mind capable of producing results in administration. The public does not always realize the hard work and the long hours that it is a pleasure to commend Commissioner Weed, who quickly made his impress in an important field.

The coldest place in New England is a hilltop town in Vermont. Here is where they use "WINCHESTER" heaters. They give greatest heat with the least amount of coal. Call on or send mail to Electrically Heated. Smith & Thayer Co., 236 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.

"PARAGON PARK"

Olga Neradoff, Famous Russian Soprano, Creates a Sensation
 There are thousands of patrons who visit "Paragon Park" and the Palm Garden regularly, some of them every week, and a surprisingly large number of the regular bench population, which at the height of the season is over 5000, consider that their evening or afternoon is incomplete without a stroll around the lagoon, taking in the band concerts and the free circus acts and the grand electrical illumination at night, with at least one call at the Palm Garden for refreshments. But there are doubtless many more thousands trying to figure out a restful cool evening who do not realize how easy it is to slip down to Nantasket on the 5.20 or 6.20 boat, have dinner in the Palm Garden while enjoying the band concerts and electric illumination, and then after taking in the free circus acts visit some of the feature attractions, and through in ample time to take the last boat back to Boston, 9.40 and be home by 11 o'clock. These evening trips will make a special appeal the coming days, for added to the electric illumination the moon is now appearing over the lagoon as if a part of the beautiful Venetian setting, and the trip home becomes a veritable moonlight excursion. Olga Neradoff who had to disappoint "Paragon" patron last week, owing to illness, made her appearance Saturday and Sunday as soprano soloist with the Russian Operatic Band and created a genuine sensation. She will continue over the 4th. This organization of 70 picked musicians under the baton of Valerio Saja, is proving a very popular feature this season.

HARVARD ATHLETICS ON THE MERIT BASIS

The Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican writes as follows concerning present athletic conditions at Harvard, which has much local interest to those who have watched the effective work which Mr. Garcelon is doing there:

"This is the season of college contests, and many people have doubtless heard the repeated stories that Harvard athletics are dominated by rich men, to the exclusion of better players who are without financial pull. Representative Garcelon of Newton is in charge of the athletic interests of Harvard, as a whole, and he insists that there is no foundation for the charge under present conditions. In the past, he admits, there may have been some basis for such statements. Today there are on the football, baseball and rowing teams sons of wealthy families, but they have made their positions solely because of their athletic ability and ambition. It is equally true that on these teams there are men who are without financial backing, and some who have not only come to college poor, but as unknown strangers, and yet have made good in athletics and have commanded the respect of many friends. In rowing, the wealthy boys who have been able to prepare at schools where they have had training at the oars may have had an advantage, but in college it is real athletic merit alone which wins honors on the college teams."

CLASS HYMN

To-day we start upon life's mystic course.The cruise is long; our tiny barks are frail.But Thou, who art our Guide and Changeless Friend,Oh, give us strength to brave the roughest gale!May friends, the dearest gift, which Thou dost grant,Be near us when the skies are bleak and cold,And tho' we find new comrades on the way,Yet may we keep and ne'er forget the old.That we may steer a straight course by the stars,Inspire in us ambitions high and true,And drive away the fogs and sudden mists,

That our ideals may be e'er in view.

When twilight deepens, safely back to port.Direct our helms, that we may rest once more,Within Thy sheltered harbor with old friends,And near the sunset glowing of the shore.

CLASS PARTY

The class party held Saturday evening at the residence of Alderman and Mrs. Frank S. Webster on Waltham street, West Newton, and whose daughter, Miss Clara Webster, a member of the graduating class, was hostess, was a most delightful affair. The grounds were illuminated with hundreds of Japanese lanterns, and one hundred and twenty-five members of the class enjoyed themselves immen-sely. Miss Parker, Miss Sleeper, Miss Daniels, Miss Johnson and Miss Mc-Gill of the teachers were guests of the class. The more formal exercises were held on the piazzas, Mr. Frank L. Converse, the president acting as chapel, and here the holy sacrifice of mass was offered for the first time in this city.

In 1865 the district became a mission of Waltham. During the administration of Rev. Patrick Flood in Waltham a beginning was made in collecting funds for a church at Upper Falls. A frame building 40 by 76 feet was erected, being dedicated by Bishop Williams in 1867.

St. Mary's became an independent parish in 1870, with Rev. M. X. Carroll its first pastor. Rev. Michael Dolan, the present pastor of the church of Our Lady at Newton proper, succeeded Fr. Carroll on December 4, 1871, saying his first mass there two days later. Fr. Dolan constructed a basement to the building, frescoed the upper church, secured the property adjoining for school or convent purposes and brought 36 acres from the town of Needham for cemetery purposes. The building of a transept by Fr. Dolan enlarged the seating capacity to 1000.

For five years the burden of the ministry was shared by Rev. Michael Begley, a native of the parish, who died a few years ago while pastor at Weymouth. Fr. Dolan left the church property in flourishing condition when he went to the Church of Our Lady in 1885.

Rev. Martin O'Brien then became pastor, living only five years to carry on the work. In 1891 Rev. Timothy J. Danahy, the present pastor, became in charge of the parish. During his administration the old church was redecorated and the parish house renovated. Under his direction St. Joseph's church at Needham was established. The parish includes not only Newton Upper Falls, but parts of Newton Highlands, Waban and the town of Needham.

STEWART—REID

The wedding of Miss Harriet George Reid, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. Reid of Newton, and Mr. William Stewart of New York was solemnized in Elliot church at 8 o'clock Monday evening, Rev. H. Grant Person, who officiated, being assisted by Rev. Dr. Volcott Calkins, a former pastor.

The bride was given in liberty satin, trimmed with old gold duchess and rose point lace, and carried sweet peas. The bridesmaids, who wore costumes of apicot satin messaline with gold lace, were Misses Emily W. Stearns, Florence E. Springer, Rosalind D. Kenway and Amy E. Plant, all of Newton; Flora G. Auerbach of Dorchester, Ida F. Rivett of Faneuil and Pamela E. Gamwell of Pittsfield.

The maid of honor was Miss Marion D. Tucker of Newton. Misses Caroline Guild and Mary Chester Guild were flower girls and ring bearers, their costumes being hand embroidered tulle.

Mr. James M. Stewart of Brooklyn, N. Y., was best man, and the ushers were Dr. W. Duncan Reid, Messrs. George S. Reid and Robert A. Reid, Jr. of Newton, brothers of the bride, William H. Kipp, Jr. and Wallace A. Stewart of New York.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 36 Hyde avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart being assisted in receiving their many friends by Dr. and Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Stewart, mother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart sailed Wednesday from New York on the Kaiser Wilhelm II for a wedding trip to Europe and on their return will reside in Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE GLOUCESTER WATER TRIP

For a hot day's outing there is nothing more enjoyable and exhilarating than a North shore trip to Gloucester by one of the Boston & Gloucester steamship boats. "It is the real thing." The boats leave Central wharf, foot of State street, week days at 10 A. M. and 2 P. M., and leave Gloucester at 3 A. M. and 2.15 P. M. The Sunday boat leaves Boston at 10.15 A. M., returning at 3.15 P. M.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Do we not need a drinking fountain in Newton for horses and dogs? In my walks about our beautiful city I have often felt that one thing has been forgotten to make our city even more perfect than it is, and that is the need of some place where horses coming from the many villages whose terminal is Newton square, can find some place for their comfort in the hot days of summer. We, who can so easily quench our thirst by dropping into the nearby drug store, cannot realize how the poor working animals must suffer, when no place is provided for them.

I can think of no place between Newton and Boston where the horses have been provided for, save in Allston, at North Beacon street, and the fountain put up by the "Humane Society" at Brookline avenue and Commonwealth avenue—a most fortunate location.

The city of Lynn has already made a move in this direction by raising money by popular subscription, in memory of Mr. Angell for a fountain in that city for animals.

Even though the "Bands of Mercy" were not allowed to be formed in our public schools, it would seem as if humane feeling for the dumb creatures who do so much for us, would be sufficiently strong to help on a movement like this, for those who are not able to "speak for themselves."

"HUMANITY."

EIGHTY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Miss Harriet A. Faxon of Maple street on Thursday afternoon of last week held an informal reception in commemoration of her eighty-fifth birthday, which was a pleasant occasion. Various gifts were presented, among the more noticeable of which were eighty-five beautiful pinks, a leather purse filled with eighty-five coins and two birthday cakes, prepared by Paxton & Co., upon one of which was inscribed, "1824—H. A. F.—1909." The guests were charmingly received in the dining-room by Mrs. J. A. Mason and Miss Alice Gamage of Malden and served with cooling refreshments. Among the curios shown was a bead basket made by Miss Faxon about 1837, in the district school and a framed photograph of the Adams-Faxon homestead that formerly stood on Watertown street, Nonantum. Miss Faxon is the last surviving member of her family and while confined to her home takes an interest in the activities of earlier years.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL GRADUATES

Solemn vespers, in which for the first time in the church of our Lady the pupils sang the entire vespers, were conducted last Monday evening, making an unusual and impressive feature of the graduation of the parochial school of the parish.

Diplomas were presented to 78 pupils, four of whom had completed the classical course and 11 the commercial course in the high school grades, 63 being graduated from the grammar grades.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Thomas J. Gasson, S. J., president of Boston college, who gave the graduates kindly counsel and much sound advice for their coming years. Rev. James K. Kelley was celebrant of the solemn vespers, Rev. Charles J. Galligan of West Newton deacon and Rev. A. S. Malone subdeacon. Within the sanctuary sat Rev. Michael Dolan, P. R., the venerable pastor of the church. The pupils singing numbered 80 girls and 150 boys.

Diplomas were presented the following:

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre—For the week of July 5th at Kelth's Theatre there will be an all round vaudeville such as has never been given before this season, with one big spectacular feature, "The Boys in Blue," which will be particularly adaptable for the holiday. This is one of the best and largest companies that has ever attempted military manoeuvres on the stage. One of the leading features is a battle in which the men will surpass anything previously done in this line. An event of local interest will be the re-appearance here of Viole Daly, of the famous family of comedians. Haines and Viole, the acrobatic humorists, will also have a whirlwind act, while that quaint comedienne, Lillian Shaw, will appear in a new specialty. Another act, which is in a nature a burlesque on "The Boys in Blue," will be given by George B. Reno and Company, in which every member of the entire company is the opposite to the others. Other features will be John P. Wade and Company in a sketch; Silbon's Cat Circus, the Musical Johnstons, Brown and Ayer; Sid Baxter and Company, making up a vaudeville bill longer and much stronger than usual.

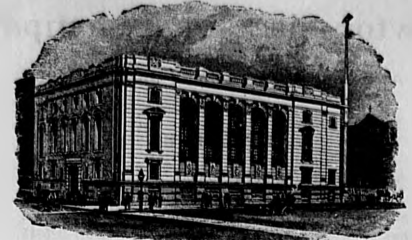

Orpheum Theatre—Willie Collier's biggest success, "Caught in The Rain," will be presented for the first time by any stock company in Boston by the Lindsay Morison Stock Company at the Orpheum Theatre. This is the highest royalty piece of the season and its production by Manager Morison is proof enough that he intends to spare no pains or expense to provide his patrons with the very best and latest plays obtainable. The prices at the Orpheum will remain the same as they have been from the start. There will be no increase even though the expense of this big production will be enormous. One of the big features of the original production of "Caught in The Rain," which will be embodied in the stock production next week is the rain storm where the hero and heroine are brought together. This storm will be one of the most realistic ever placed on a stage and is sure to cause a great deal of comment.

NORUMBEGA PARK.

The always cool temperature at Norumbega Park is proverbial. This is a feature of the picturesque resort on the banks of the Charles that has become established in the twelve years of its existence beyond dispute. Its location at an elevation higher than the surrounding country, with the cool waters of the Charles washing practically three sides of it and blessed with ample natural shade from the hundreds of shady trees, gives it a distinction for natural coolness that is not enjoyed by any other park in this country.

The new open air theatre is offering an unusually attractive vaudeville program this week and the crowded attendances of afternoon and evening demonstrated that the numbers were thoroughly appreciated.

The Zoological Garden, canoeing and boating, the Restaurant, with its excellent cuisine and superb service and Allen's orchestra on the veranda, the Deer Park, Casino, Merry-go-round, Rifle Range, Chalet of Wonders, electric launch service, Garage, and electric fountain are some of the features of Norumbega Park.

FLORAL EMBLEM SOCIETY

The eleventh annual distribution of plants and flowers by this society to children of Boston will take place July 5th (the fourth falling on Sunday this year) on Boston Common (near monument). That this feature may attain the success it has met in past years, the society invite the co-operation of florists and all others interested. Flowers sent to the North or South Terminal Station, care of Armstrong's Transfer Co., will be delivered free. Friends out of town can have flowers forwarded from local railroad stations free if they notify us in time to have arrangement made. Have packages plainly marked Boston Floral Emblem Society, care of Armstrong's Transfer Co. Contributions of money, however small, will be greatly appreciated and may be sent to the Treasurer, Mrs. Lue Stuart Wadsworth, 112 Huntington avenue, Boston.

Kindly notify the Secretary if you send donations, that proper acknowledgment may be made. Flowers may be sent to tent of Boston Floral Emblem Society, Boston Common (near center gate, Charles street), Sunday afternoon or early Monday morning, July 5th and 6th.

A pretty wedding took place at the Church of the Messiah, Abundale, last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, when a Henry Edmund Mozelsous was united in marriage to Miss Hess Irene Trelawny, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Trelawny. The chancel was beautifully decorated with a profusion of potted plants and wild flowers. The officiating clergyman was Rev. John Matteson, rector of the church, and Mr. Everett Howard Titcomb the organist and the vested choir assisted in the service. The best man was Mr. William Haskell and the flower girl was Miss Geraldine Trelawny. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Arthur S. Trelawny. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother on Camden road, after an extended wedding trip, including a visit to the groom's parents in New Haven, Conn. toastmaster. Mr. Converse made a few brief remarks and then introduced Mr. Carl F. Hawes, Jr., the statistician, who spoke as follows:

CLASS STATISTICS

It was once said by an eminent New Yorker, who was well acquainted with the business methods of the Bay State Capital, that the chief difference between the laymen of New York and those of Boston was that in the great Metropolis everyone helps the "under dog," while in the "Hub" when a man is down everyone takes pleasure in jumping on him.

With this sentiment, I could never agree and have warmly contended that no matter what could be said now, the rising generation would not be long in erasing this stain from the reputation of their predecessors. Can you imagine my consternation then, when during the only serious illness I have had since entering High School, I received notification of my election to the arduous task of Statistician? And to think that blow was delivered by my trusted class mates. This totally unwarranted action convinced me of my New York friend's wisdom and I thought of the old proverb: "He laughs best, who laughs last." Therefore, my just revenge is upon your own guilty heads and you must sit quietly while I have the extreme pleasure of making personal remarks and revealing secrets.

Class Treasurer and Prophet

We will first consider the noble class as a whole. What a great and wonderful body of companions we have been! Wondered because undoubtedly not any class, with an equal spirit and financial record has ever left the Newton High School in such a whirl of glory; followed by the good wishes and regrets of all those left behind to take up the tasks we have forever relinquished. We are also great because no previous class could boast of an enrollment of 189 students and a total weight of 26,460 pounds. Our height is so great, if placed one above the other, on the lawn where our class picture was taken last Tuesday, the noble institution from which 172 of us received diplomas this afternoon, would seem like a mere ant-hill before the half way mark was reached and when all were in their assigned places, the top man of our column could look into the windows of Mount Ida School. If it were proper for a person in my capacity to bet, all my spare cash would back Davis as being at the top with his eyes toward the afore mentioned female hill.

During the Sophomore year we gained the reputation of being totally lacking in school spirit, but the record of the class shows that this report was false. Thirty boys have won their "N's" at football, baseball, hockey or track and fourteen girls have represented us on the School basketball and field hockey teams. No 1909 baseball team has ever been defeated and Eddie Woods has successfully defended his title of Tennis champion in the school since he entered four years ago. Three successive years our track men have become steadily more efficient in the Drill Hall and were rewarded this winter by winning the annual school meet. The Seniors likewise showed their superiority by easily defeating the other three classes on the girl-iron last fall.

Now as you have some conception of the merits and characteristics of the class, let us mention the most striking traits of a few of its prominent members. The dearest desire of human nature is praise and a large amount of praise should be given to those who were almost unanimously chosen the most popular persons among us; Our President, Frank Lee Converse and our Vice President Virginia Tapley. Miss Tapley also ranks foremost among the athletes. A little bird told me that the reason for Virginia's being the best athlete of the senior sex is that she has taken up the new health cure known as Fletcherizing.

Critics say that a fellow never amounts to much in School or College unless he is an athlete. Frank could not be an athlete if he tried, therefore he is the exception that proves the rule. Why then is he so attractive? In trying to solve the problem I have come to the conclusion that the fellows all voted the way they did because of our hero's (Frank's) straight forwardness and winning manners. Not being a girl it is rather difficult to explain their views on the subject, but if anyone takes the trouble to call at Craigville, the unique confessions made there will amply repay him for the inconveniences of sea-sickness while under the (See of Flanders).

After popularity comes appearance and Miss Dorothy Warren has the honor for outstripping her closest rival in the class beauty contest. For the benefit of those who have never fathomed the mysteries of the descendants of Eve, it is necessary to explain that "Dot" should be excused for showing her pride because she is not responsible for possessing the most cherished hope of every girl and many a woman since the world began, which is to be acknowledged beautiful by those with whom she comes in contact. No fellow would consider it a compliment to be called a "pretty boy," yet each one of us puts on a conscious air when told he looks handsome. All watch Ed Richardson and note his expression when he hears that his class-mates have placed him on a pedestal alongside of the Greek hero Apollo, as the handsomest youth of the twentieth century. I have said the twentieth century, because being the best looking member of the ablest class that has ever graduated from the most noted high school of the greatest nation in the world, there are none to dispute his claim.

At last Hazel Smith and Robert Norton may be officially announced class babies. To some, the word baby means a person who is small and slight in stature, but to most of us the term applies merely to age and appearance. I am forbidden to tell Hazel's age but her plump, roguish face, laughing eyes and long braid would make many nurses proud to trundle her along the board walk of a fashionable summer resort, provided the carriage was equipped with a self propelling attachment and the infant consented to leave behind that hockey stick which she knows so well how to handle. Dear Bob; his soft childish features would make any mother jealous and there was never a committee of judges at Asbury Park that would not approve of your choice and give him a blue ribbon at the Baby Show. Don't worry "Bob," everybody has to be a baby first and perhaps, if you have patience you'll grow to be a man like the rest of us, some day.

Who would ever think that Jackson was a nuisance. It is impossible to believe that a fellow with his beaming smile and such a cute pompadour could ever become tiresome. In order that no one will take this seriously, it would be well to state that very few expressed their sentiments in this matter and he was only elected by a small number of his most intimate friends who knew that he could stand a good joke. As compensation for this shock the class rewarded Jackson's efforts in another line by making him the dude. He is erect and has a walk upon which he holds the patent. However the real reason why he is distinguished is that he can wear more different colored socks and neckties in one week than any other member of the class would appear in during an entire month. Nevertheless Stanley Moore has been visiting the haberdashery's lately and if he had only become entangled in the meshes of Gertrude's lynching process a little sooner, he would undoubtedly have made Jackson look as though he too had originated in the back-woods of Maine. While speaking of dudes, we must not omit one stray ex-president, Henry H. Wellington, who wandered all the way to Boston before being caught by a cramming school. He boasts that he is the best authority on men's clothing in Newton. Berkeley Prep. must be praised for giving him this desirable knowledge which does not come under the regular prescribed courses of his former Alma Mater. There is one objection to his present situation and that is the English class where he daily comes in contact with poems, the like of which have never been encountered by Mr. Thomas' pupils.

Now in order to appease the curiosity of the young ladies present, I must confess that it was almost impossible to decide who had advanced furthest in the gentle art of "Fussing." The result of my work was to find that Davis deserves your congratulations and attentions, although he received but one more vote than Converse, who in turn, deprived our shy football Captain of second place, by almost as small a majority. When asked the reason for his success, Ted smiled that far off "Pondland" smile with which he has favored us so much of late and said that he wouldn't think much of the fellow who couldn't "fuss" after having called on a certain young lady at Mount Ida every Saturday night for two years.

It is time to turn our thoughts once more to work. Our High School life has not been totally devoid of work and for proof of this fact you may interview Miss Hattie Frost and Bill Capon and ask them why they so overwhelmingly defeated all other candidates for the worthy distinction which has been so basely termed, class king.

O'Neil, our old war horse, is again chosen the best athlete in the school. It is an unusual occurrence for the same person to receive a vote of this kind two successive years, but "Tip" has worked hard to keep up the glory of his school and deserves all the athletic laurels that may be bestowed upon him.

If there is any one here who expects to spend the summer on a farm, I suggest that he call on "Wuzz" Warren for advice as how best to dig potatoes or get the most work out of a pony. Pratt is also something of a horseman, or should be, considering the number of hours he has spent in company with Lippencott, trotting through the mazes of Virgil.

Last of all among us comes the laziest. To find this person was an exceptionally delicate task because there are so many slow and weary looking fellows continually in evidence and such a large number of girls, especially generals who appear to be taking that most popular of all courses "study periods." However, upon the advice of some of the teachers, it was decided that Barrows and Farwell should divide the honors. This arrangement was not satisfactory to them so our prophet with his usual quick-wittedness, suggested that we toss up and do away with the possibility of a disagreement between these two hopefuls. "Ted" won the toss and Barrows gracefully withdrew leaving the distinction of laziest member of the class to Jack Farwell.

Children usually keep the best things until last and for that reason I have waited all this time before announcing that Miss McGill and Mr. Davis have made the most favorable impression upon the whole class and were designated the most popular teachers in the school.

And now farewell to all the troubles and pleasures of High School life. The troubles have been so far exceeded by the pleasures that they alone will be remembered as we each journey through life, faithfully striving for the highest ideals, in a manner to reflect only credit upon the greatest of all graduating classes of the Newton High School, that of 1909.

Mr. Edward A. Davis then gave the class prophecy which was received with great applause and merriment. Mr. Converse suggested the feasibility of a class reunion next year and the entire class then cheered for the school.

Dancing followed until a late hour, the stable being used as a ball room and a hurdy gurdy furnishing the music. Special cars were provided when the party broke up, with many expressions of pleasure at the jolly good time each one had experienced.

READ FUND PICNIC.

The annual Read Fund picnic was held as usual this year at beautiful Norumbega Park on Wednesday of this week. Ten special cars filled with happy youngsters left Nonantum square at 9:15 in charge of Mr. Frank W. Chase, master of the Bigelow school reaching the park about ten o'clock. The management had secured the free use of the merry go round and it worked overtime for the next two hours to satisfy the demands of all those who desired to ride.

At noon the luncheon was served in the cafe, where Caterer Osgood had prepared a toothsome lunch of sandwiches, doughnuts, ice cream, cake, bananas and lemonade in great abundance. As soon as lunch was over, and this took nearly three hours, with the tables being filled four times, a rush was made for the theatre. After the entertainment the special cars were quickly filled and the party reached home about five o'clock.

STREET RAILWAY FACILITIES

Newton is primarily a residential city. Its prosperity and growth, in fact almost its very existence, depends upon the excellence of the transportation service to and from Boston. It is wonderfully well served especially by the street car lines to Boston.

A recent analysis of the cost of operation of the Boston Elevated Railway Company shows that passengers who ride over four and a half miles are carried by that company at a loss. It will therefore appear that there is not much profit in carrying Newton passengers, but nevertheless, the company maintains an excellent and frequent service and gives this city the benefit of its newest and largest cars on some of our most important lines.

It is possible to ride from Newton to any point in the great territory of 125 square miles served by this company for a five-cent fare. Our residents have become so accustomed to this extremely liberal service that they accept it as a matter of course, and almost as a matter of right, without thinking what makes it possible to supply such extensive facilities for so small a cost. It is because the company has a large volume of short haul business that good service can be maintained on the longer lines, together with the fact that the company is managed by men of unusual capacity and integrity who are required by the stockholders of the company to earn only a moderate return upon a capitalization that is far inside of the actual money that has been invested in the business.

In the course of a year the company carries approximately 275,000,000 paying passengers which is equivalent to about three times the entire population of the United States. The number of miles run by the cars of this company in a single day is equal to five and one-half times the distance around the world. In order to carry all of these passengers and operate its thousands of cars more than 8,000 employees are required, which is 20% more than the entire number of registered voters in this city.

Some people have an idea that the street railway business is very profitable and that the management aims to get all the profit possible out of the business for its stockholders. The fact is that the business is run upon an extremely close margin and that it is the policy of the company to give back to the public in the form of service what it receives in income above what is required for a fair return upon the money actually invested in the business. It is generally agreed that the service supplied by this company is not excelled anywhere in the United States and the men who conduct its affairs probably contribute more to the upbuilding and welfare of suburban communities than any other group of men engaged in any public or private enterprise in and about Boston.

AN EGG STORY

Why the several green, white and red eggs which were "laid" as he supposed by a pair of rare canary birds that he had recently bought did not hatch in a Centre street fruit store where he labors was a puzzle to Philippe Capadano until lately.

When he found several of the "eggs" partly eaten by the grown up canaries and noted his business neighbors, the photographer and the shoe-maker, smiling and mysteriously winking, Philippe did a little investigation which resulted in his dream of becoming the owner of some extraordinary little canaries being rudely shattered.

Philippe bought the mother and father birds from a fellow countryman who had brought them here from the warm climes of Italy a few weeks ago. He placed them in a little cage in the store, carefully guarding them from harm. One day there appeared in the nest a little white egg, which Philippe showed with great pride. The next day there appeared another, and on the third day there was a green egg. Philippe's joy was great, but he knew no bounds when there appeared on following days several more eggs of bright colors, once two eggs arriving in a single day. But when he returned from dinner to-day the sugar coating of the "eggs" was eaten off. Then he realized for the first time that they were candy, carefully "laid" in the nest by human hands. "Anyhow, the birds thought they were real too and tried almost two weeks to hatch 'em out," said Philippe.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Sir:—I do not wish to deter Newton dog owners who are planning to take their pets away with them during the summer, but there are certain facts of which I think they should be made aware.

Sometime during the past winter, so quietly that few have heard of it, the railroads of the state succeeded in getting through the Legislature a law by which they are now charging for dogs as "excess baggage," irrespective of whether the owner is carrying any other baggage or not.

On the Albany road the charge from Newton to Boston for a dog is 15 cents, two more than the fare of the human passenger, while on the New Haven, the fee is 25 cents. Dogs may be lost or mangled or

ELEGANT PAIR

Well bred jet black horses, with three white hind ankles, raised in New York State, thoroughly acclimated having been here past four months, have nice heads and arched necks. An ideal coach team in every way, well broken single and double, fearless, fine action, natural roadsters of 10 miles an hour, warranted sound and kind.

killed by the throwing in of trunks or torn by fellow canine travelers, but under this new form of public extortion granted the roads, they cannot be held for any damages above $25 and an owner is forced to sign a release in this amount before his dog will be allowed on a train.

Anyone who has observed the handling of trunks by the trainmen during the busy summer vacation season can well imagine what is likely to befall their pets tied in a crowded baggage car, to which the owners are not admitted.

My experience a few days ago on the New Haven road may be of interest to your readers. On entering a baggage car to surrender my dog to the tender mercies of strangers, I found an unmuzzled (contrary to law) Great Dane occupying that section of the smoker, and had I left my dog there it would have been a matter of about half a minute when he would have been killed, to say nothing of what might have happened to myself. I accordingly went into the smoker, law or no law, and was soon ordered by the conductor to put my dog into the baggage car. I explained to him that I was personally afraid of the Dane and did not intend to have my dog killed, also asked him what redress I would have if I was injured in putting the dog in there.

He told me I would have no redress as it was against the rules of the road for a passenger to enter the baggage car, but despite this again demanded that I should take my dog in. I then gave it to him straight that I would neither put my dog in the car or go in myself and matters at once came down to the basis whether the conductor would arrest me or we would have it out on the floor of the car. He declined both propositions and that ended the matter—but I kept my seat in the smoker and my dog with me.

I recognize the fact that dogs are more or less of a nuisance in the regular coaches, also that the railroads have had things made very comfortable for themselves, but in the face of the fact that a fare is insisted on for the dogs I believe they should provide proper quarters for the animals where they may be protected while enroute.

The average dog owner who thinks anything of his pet does not place a money value on the affection that may exist between them; surely, the paltry sum of $25 for a paw chewed off by a trunk is no adequate recompense.

I would be glad to meet or communicate with other dog owners, not only in this city but those neighboring Newton, to see if some step cannot be taken by which the roads should be forced to take a little responsibility in this matter.

Very truly,
GEORGE O. ALMY,

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—Week after week at Keith's big attractions are following each other in rapid succession, the next to come being the famous Romany Opera Company, the largest organization of the kind ever presented in vaudeville,—in fact is as strong as many of the productions that give a whole evening's entertainment. It will include in its present visit most of last season's successes and favorites, Miss Florence Quinn, the wonderful soprano, who made a tremendous hit and more than duplicated it as the leading soloist of "The Red Mill" Company; Sig. Etore Campagna; Sig. Rissini and Alexander Bevan who is still at the head of the organization. For the present engagement an entirely new production has been made under the title of "La Festa di Metz Agosto." There are no less than sixteen people in the company, and it will be perhaps impossible to get together a company of artists in one engagement at any other time to equal this. The Romany Opera Company will be the leading attraction on another exceptionally strong bill, which will include a great Boston favorite, Charlie Case, the fellow who talks about his father, James Horne, the Boston leading man will return in the sketch "How To Win A Woman," in which the leading part will be taken by Kathryn Purnell, one of the best known actresses, who for years has been out at the head of her own company. In the cast will also be the old time actor, who has since won fame as a dramatic author, Justin Adams, author of the play "Quincy Adams Sawyer." Still another local feature will be Henry D. Gardner, formerly of the Cedars, and Minnie Allen in a unique entertainment. Others on the bill are the Four Londons; Paul LaCroix, the hat juggler; the Van Brothers in their musical absurdities; Wilson, the spinning cyclist and Gillette's Company of trained animals.

Orpheum Theatre—Next week the Lindsay Morison Stock Company at the Orpheum Theatre will present William Haworth's greatest of all American naval dramas "The Ensign." No piece of late years has caused such comment as this play has. For aside from its intensely interesting plot and the beautiful love story that is told the play possesses historical value greater than that of any modern play. "The Ensign" deals primarily with an incident of the Civil War which is familiar to every school boy and girl in America. This incident, namely the Mason-Sidell episode came very near involving this country in a war with Great Britain. Many of the events of the Civil War are depicted so accurately that even historians have found them of value in compiling their own works. Perhaps the most interesting figure in the play is that of the martyred President Lincoln and many delightful traits of his wonderful character are presented. There will be no increase in prices and Manager Morison takes this opportunity to announce that at no time during the season and no matter what the play will prices be changed from the extremely popular prices established at the beginning.

With the retirement of Representatives Garcelon and Bishop and the possible declination of Representative Converse to stand again, the city will be called upon to select two and possibly three new men to present its interests at the State House next winter. Several prominent men of the city have prevailed upon ex mayor Henry E. Bothfield to allow the use of his name as one of the Republican candidates for that office. The city can elect no better man to represent it than Mr. Bothfield. Thru his intimate connection with the city government as alderman, mayor and member of the school committee, he has a practical knowledge of the problems of its city government, and thru his association with the Newton Hospital, the Newton Savings Bank and other institutions more or less intimately identified with our civic life, he knows its needs and desires far better than the average man. The city is to be congratulated that Mr. Bothfield is willing to give the time and attention demanded of its representatives.

The choice of a young lady from Needham as secretary by the Newton school committee, is evidence that the training given by the Newton school system is not good enough for the committee's own use. For the committee had the opportunity to choose a well qualified young woman, taught in the Newton schools, with twelve years of practical experience in city affairs at City Hall, and instead takes a non-resident, without any knowledge whatever of Newton or its methods of government. It is hardly civil service to refuse what might be termed a promotion to a worthy employee, and I am sure it is a decided reflection on the product of the Newton schools.

Newton is essentially a city of homes and it is fitting that the local paper should emphasize and re-emphasize that fact. In the character of those who have subscribed to this issue, in its typographical appearance in particular and in the GRAPHIC, in general, I feel that lovers of our city will join with me in the pride I take in presenting to the readers of the GRAPHIC, the first HOME EDITION ever published in this community.

Governor Draper continues to exercise the best of judgment in his appointments to public office, and his reappointment of Hon. A. R. Weed of this city as a gas and electric light commissioner is a recognition of the splendid work which Mr. Weed has done during the past three years.

POLICE

There was a large array of alleged offenders before Judge Kennedy in the police court Tuesday as the result of arrests made on the holiday and on the "night before."

The case of three Auburndale men arrested by Sergt. Chapman of the Metropolitan park police for alleged violation of park rules caused much interest. The men were William F.
Gorman, 28, of 150 Melrose street; Edward H. Walsh, 31, of 187 Melrose street, and James L. Malone, 18, of 75 Freeman street. All were charged with intoxication and Gorman and Malone were charged with having had liquor in their possession within the Auburndale reservation.

Gorman testified that a keg of beer had been sent to his house without his knowledge, and that two others rolled it into the woods near the Charles river. He went there to see the outcome. He disclaimed possession of the beer, but the court ruled that both he and Malone had had liquor in their possession. Fines of $20 were imposed upon Gorman and Malone, while Walsh was fined $10 for intoxication.

"Guss" Johnson and John Nelson got into an altercation in a grocery in Newton Upper Falls the night before the Fourth. They came to blows, according to the testimony, and broke glass in the store and did considerable damage generally. They were charged with drunkenness and disturbance. The drunkenness charges were placed on file, but fines of $20 were imposed upon each for disturbance.

Joseph P. O'Brien, 27, of 212 Adams street, was about to take a young woman canoeing at Auburndale, when he was intercepted, according to his own testimony, by Giuseppe No-cento, 21, and John Nochetto, 23, both of 126 Washington street. O'Brien ran after the Nochetos in an effort to get possession of the razor, he said, with the result that all three were arrested on charges of assault and disturbance. The Nochetos were each discharged, but O'Brien was fined $20 for disturbance and given until July 19 to pay.

NEWTONVILLE CELEBRATES

On Monday evening of this week, Newtonville was again in line with the proper spirit, by another display of fireworks.

This is the third year that Newton-ville has celebrated "Independence Day" and it is generally conceded that the display far outranked any of the previous efforts.

Unlike most of the celebrations in the vicinity of Boston, this was strictly a neighborhood affair and was more enjoyed on that account.

Mr. Chas. Pulsifer again loaned his eld, which being bounded by four streets afforded an unobstructed view or several hundred people both on foot, and in automobiles.

Contributions were solicited and received from Cabot, Clyde, Walnut, Gay, Otis, and Pulsifer streets, Washington Park, Park place, Kirkstall road and Trowbridge and Madon avenues.

A band concert was enjoyed from 7.30 and the fireworks started about eight, lasting for about an hour and ending with the set pieces of "Newtonville," "Adieu," and a huge illumination of nearly a barrel of Red Fire.

The work in the field was in the hands of Mr. W. L. Wedger and Mr.
Louis S. Ross, who kept things moving every minute. The houses surrounding the field were decorated heavily with Japanese lanterns and most everyone kept "open house."

Newtonville should be congratulated at having citizens patriotic enough to contribute to any affair as enjoyable as this was to all present.

Y. M. C. A.

On Saturday, July 10, the base ball team plays Boston Y. M. C. A. at the Riverside Recreation Grounds, at 2.45.
Later in the afternoon there will be fancy diving and swimming by members of the Brookline Swimming Club and in the evening flag raising exercises.

Arthur Loneragan was chosen captain of the Base Ball team last Saturday. Capt. Loneragan is one of the best players on the team and deserves the honor his team mates have given him.

of the Fall River Association, handed him an envelope and departed. He found $10,000 inside for an endow-these needs and give liberally for this purpose.

Author of the Human Limit

(Copyright 1909 by Edwin Chase Merrill)

Action as applied to man, has reference to his movements. While the word action may refer more particularly to the working and visible movements of a man, something more than visible signs is implied; an internal reason which impels action; but we shall confine this article to the light thrown upon a man as a whole from the standpoint of his movements.

Man's physical body is constructed with special reference to a predominant class of movements. He is built for muscular activity along the lines of constructive and directive ability.
That man was born to rule over all the lower orders of life, is without doubt a truism which man himself has created. Men of science, from many points of view, have deduced that man has become what he is from necessity. Such being the case, government is a universal principle applying to man and the lower orders of animal, vegetable and mineral life, as well as to the various grades and types of humanity. It is necessary to associate and govern to carry out cosmic law. Man is active, first, because Nature obliges him to comply with the predominating class of movements which characterize the human family; second, because he desires and delights in the activity of progress; and third, because he realizes the necessity of association and government by the law of the universe.

Man is active, first, because Nature obliges him to comply with the predominating class of movements which charac-terize the human family; second, because he desires and delights in the activity of progress; and third, because he realizes the necessity of association and government by the law of the universe.

There are exceptional cases where certain customs and movements of men seem less wise than the customs and movements of insects; but these are purely exceptional. That man can gain wisdom from the ant or bee falls being adequately substantiated when the customs and movements of each are carefully compared. That some men are less prudent than some insects and animals may arrest the attention of a careless observer. But man as a whole is not necessarily guided wholly by prudent motives.

Man seems to be material in his ideas and movements as any of the lower orders, but he possesses other tendencies altogether absent from the insects of the lowest species of life. Man's creative instinct manifests an endless variety of resources, while the fowls of the air, and the insects and animals in general, are confined to unvarying modes. This is so true that if a dove builds a nest in a tree, it is a just cause for wonderment. Or if a colony of bees swarmed in November, it might be considered a very open winter, or a very open winter, or a very open winter, or a very open winter, or a very open winter, or a very open winter.

Man on the other hand exhibits profound wisdom in his movements, more often unconsciously than intentionally.
A man's unconscious movements are the key to his conscious movements.
They are also the key to his desires.
They are also the key to his desires.
They are also the key to his desires.

POLICE HEARING

A hearing on charges of breaking and entering a building in Newton Centre and neglect of duty preferred against Patrolman William Groth, for nearly a dozen years a policeman in this city, took place Saturday before Mayor Hutchinson in a committee room in city hall, occupying the greater part of the forenoon.

Patrolman Groth, who lives at 177 Langley road, was charged with breaking and entering the carpenter shop of A. I. English & Co., 63 Union street, the night of June 9. Testimony brought out that he took a small amount of wire from the shop, paying for it later.

Robert W. English testified that he was lying partly asleep in the shop at about 3.30 A. M., when Patrolman Groth came through the door, rolled up a piece of wire, rolled up the rest and went out. He said that the following night the officer came into the shop between 1 and 2 A. M. and paid him for the wire, telling him to be sure to tell his father that he had done so.

English testified that he had previously told Chief Mitchell that his father had placed him in the shop nights because articles had been stolen, but to-day said this was not so.
"I am under oath now to tell the whole truth," said he.

Patrolman Mariner was next called.
Chief Mitchell stating that it was with reluctance that he had consented to testify. He said he had met Patrolman Groth carrying a roll of wire and advised him to see the elder Mr.
English and settle for it, he having learned that the officer had been in the shop.

Lieut. Robert S. Harrison, who was in charge of headquarters, was seen and half on the night in question, testified that Patrolman Groth did not report the door of Mr. English's place as having been unlocked. He said an officer is supposed to make a report to headquarters if he finds a building open and enters it to investigate.

A. I. English was the next called.
He said that two years ago Patrolman Groth was given permission to get some boards from his place, paying for them sometime later. He declared it was the habit among some Newton Centre residents to help themselves when they wanted anything in different shops, paying afterward, but that it was not usual to go into places after business hours. "I did not give Mr. Groth permission to go in the shop, and I did not think his action was quite right," said he.

Called to tell his own story, Patrolman Groth said in part: "On June 8 I found the door unlocked. At 3.30 A.
M. on June 9 I found it insecure again.
I went in and looked around carefully.
I saw some wire, and needing some I cut off a piece and rolled it up. Then I went out and snapped the lock. I saw no one in the shop.

"The next night I went into the shop and found Rob English asleep.
I gave him 15 cents for the wire and told him to be sure and tell his father I had paid for it. I had strict orders from Sergt. Burke to examine the doors, as there had been breaks in the vicinity."

Patrolman Groth charged Officer Mariner with not telling the truth in his testimony regarding finding doors open. There was a quiet hush when the charge of untruthfulness was made, eyes shifting from the officer to the mayor, but the patrolman was not interrupted in his testimony.

Officer Groth said he had been on the force something over 11 years.
He had never been reprimanded, he said, but had four times been commended, once for work at a fire, once for stopping a runaway and another time by Ex-Chief Tarbox for special detective work. He said no inspector had endeavored to get his side of the story, but when he recently returned from vacation Chief Mitchell called him to his office and told him he could tell his story if he wished.

"I counsel for Patrolman Groth in his plea declared that there had been only a slight breach of duty, lasting only a few moments. "There was no breaking and entering," said he, "for the officer went into the shop in discharge of his duty."

Safety For Your Estate

Every investment made, or other important action taken by this company represents the collective wisdom of a group of men expert in trust management, and their service cost no more than those of an individual.

All our securities are officially inspected three times a year. We give bonds equal to twice the amount of the personal property of an estate we administer; and these bonds are backed by a guarantee of $4,500,000. An individual acting as executor or trustees rarely is required to give security.

The holiday crowds at Norumbega Park were royally entertained with the special features provided for them, among the extra attractions in observance of the "Day of the Boy" being the "Day of the Boy" at the Marlboro Military Band. The Restaurant with Allen's orchestra concerts on the veranda is becoming more popular every day and the warm evenings when a meal is best enjoyed with a good view of the Charles River.

The Zoological Garden, Garage, Deer Park, Casino, Swing Court, Rifle Range, and all other attractions of the Park continue to be popular features. The attraction next week will be the merry musical comedy entitled "In Mexico."

—Mrs. F. W. Rane of Beacon street was called suddenly to Whitmore Lake, Mich., last Friday by the death of her mother, Mrs. Bailey, who had been ill at her home in Duluth for some months.

—Mr. Louis O. Tilton is confined to the house by an injury to his knee received during the ball game on Monday. He fell while running for a fly, twisting his knee badly and slipping a cartilage.

—Mrs. P. S. Hill and Mr. E. H. Robinson won the first of the season's championships at the Waban Tennis Courts on Monday, capturing the Mixed Doubles by winning three hard matches. The tournament was started on Saturday with seven couples entered and in spite of the high wind several of the matches were excellent and produced much fast tennis.

The hardest contest was between the tournament winners and Mrs. Buffum and Mr. Crain, the latter pair leading 5-4 in the third set but a hard rally gave Mrs. Hill and Mr. Robinson the match. On Monday they met Miss Knott and Mr. Hill in the finals and another hard contest resulted. The losers played hard, brilliant tennis in the first two sets but their opponents improved and secured the win by superior steadiness. Summary: First round—Mrs. Buffum and Mr. Lane defeated Miss Stone and Mr. Kimball, 6-4, 6-3. Mrs. Hill and Mr. Robinson defeated Mrs. Parker and Mr. Turner, 6-1, 6-1. Miss Knott and Mr. Hill defeated Mrs. Blaney and Mr. Crain, 6-3, 6-3. Second round—Mrs. Hill and Mr. Robinson defeated Mrs. Buffum and Mr. Lane, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5. Miss Knott and Mr. Hill defeated Miss Breck and Mr. Dow, 6-2, 8-6. Final round—Mrs. Hill and Mr. Robinson defeated Miss Knott and Mr. Hill, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

—Waban celebrated the Fifth with a full program of lively events and the committee, headed by Mr. A. C. Turner are to be congratulated on the most successful day in the annals of the village. The principal events took place on the playground, where all forms of noise producers were prohibited and this kept the day quiet, while at the same time the children were provided with plenty of fun. The final round of the tennis tournament at the courts was no sooner finished than the athletic sports were under way and the many events were run off quickly and smoothly. The children of all ages entered into the sports with a will and the majority went home proudly decorated with one or many badges of red, white and blue, lettered in gold with the name of the event. The winners in the six classes received handsome cups of silver, and in every case their performances were high class. R. F. Williams in class A, and Arthur Knight in class B, of the boys, and Helen Wiley in the first class of the girls repeated their victories of last year, and the other successful contestants were: Blue, Helen Patterson and Eleanor Walker. The easy side vs. west side ball game for the town championship was a corker both Williams and Woodward pitching great ball; the latter nine had a little the better of the luck and scored the winning run on the only error by the east side. The game was fast and well played, Patterson being the hero at the bat and Marvin in the field, but the umpiring was weird.

—During the game the only accident to mar the day occurred when Tilton, running for a long fly, fell and tore a ligament in his knee. In the evening a big crowd, including many from out of town, listened to an excellent band concert and watched the fine display of fire works.

OUR INVITATION

Two hundred and fifty years ago, no person was permitted to take up his residence in any of the towns of the Massachusetts Colony without the consent of its inhabitants. In conformity with that ancient custom, we extend to intelligent, God fearing, and patriotic men and women everywhere, a cordial invitation to become our neighbors and friends.

Newton is one of the most beautiful suburbs of Boston, near enough to enjoy all the advantages of the metropolis and yet, far enough away to avoid the unpleasant features of a great city. Our schools are celebrated thruout the state for their excellence and high standard. Our water supply is pronounced the best in the Commonwealth. Our streets are the standard for the rest of the country, and the park like appearance of our various villages has well earned the title of "The Garden City of the Commonwealth." Moreover, Newton enjoys the unique experience of a city government, honest, incorruptible, and in which men of the highest character deliberate to advance the interests of the municipality on the broad lines for future prosperity and usefulness.

NEWTON'S NATURAL BEAUTY.

In scenes of natural beauty, the city of Newton can hold up its head with any municipality of the state. Its chief beauty lies in the Charles River, which encircles it for many miles, forming its boundary on the south, the west and the north. The beauties of Hemlock Gorge have so appealed to the state authorities that it has been included within the Metropolitan Park Reservation. The Park Commission has also taken possession of about all the river bank within the limits of the city and when developed in the future, will form a parkway which will easily be the envy of the Commonwealth. A bit of New Hampshire can be imagined along the upper courses of the Cheese Cake Brook of homely name, and the dashing waters from Bulloughs Pond make a spot well worth a visit. But it is to the country at Oak Hill that the lover of Nature always turns with pleasure. Here can be found the country farm of a hundred years ago, and splendid roads leading up hill and down dale with glimpses of the Great Blue Hill in the not far distance. Here are also many acres of woodland, where one can believe himself almost lost in the heart of the forest. This brief summary would be far from complete if it did not mention the ancient rock formations and ledges round and about Hammond's Pond at Chestnut Hill, and which will well repay the time and trouble of a personal visit.

Is it any wonder, when to these natural beauties, Newton adds the conveniences and luxuries of modern life, that the home seeker, finds here the desire of his heart, and settles down with a sigh of supreme satisfaction.

NEWTON IS THE IDEAL CITY FOR THE HOME SEEKER.

The home seeker has the greatest variety from which to choose in the many villages which form this "city upon a circumference," as a noted wit has termed us. In Newton, one finds the main library, the beautiful Farlow Park, the Y. M. C. A. and its many attractions, and rapid, convenient and cheap communication with the metropolis. Newtonville boasts the High School, the new Technical High School and that splendid bit of philanthropy, the Claffin Field. West Newton, seated in beauty upon its hill, is the centre of civic government and dotted with many fine estates. Auburndale, quiet and still beside the winding Charles, is an ideal summer home. Waban, beautiful Waban, the queen of villages, has the most delightful social life of the city—a place where each one knows everybody else for a neighbor and friend. Newton Highlands is another Waban of a larger growth and vies with its little neighbor in the extent and warmth of its village life. Newton Centre, with its placid lake and fine playground, has broken down the walls of exclusiveness and sectarianism, and thru the fine work of its Improvement Association leads the entire city in deeds of civic righteousness. Last, but not least, is the rural hamlet of Chestnut Hill, nestling amid the trees and rocks surrounding Hammond's Pond, and the home of those who can boast the best blood of both Colonial and modern days.

It is with such a galaxy of attractions that Newton, the Garden City of the Commonwealth, welcomes all who can and will add to its standard of civic virtue.

THE CONFERRING OF KNIGHTHOOD ON AN AMERICAN, ONCE A CITIZEN OF NEWTON, BY KING EDWARD

In the current number of the Outlook there is a very interesting article on the conferring of Knighthood on an American, now Sir William Campbell. Very few of our citizens probably remember Mr. Campbell. Nearly fifty years ago he lived in Newtonville on Highland avenue, directly opposite the old homestead of Mr. T. H. Carter. More than forty years ago he went to England to aid the education of the blind, he has been known for many years in that country and on the continent as the leading authority on that line of benevolent endeavor.

England and the countries of Europe were woefully far behind the United States in caring for their unfortunate blind people. Sir Campbell's efforts have been marvellously successful, recognition of which is so notably acknowledged by the conferring of the honor of Knighthood by King Edward. Before going to England he was most enthusiastic in his work on the same line in this country. Here in Newton he lived the simple life, he and his wife were very lovable persons. Mr. Campbell was noted then as one who endeavored in spite of his terrible disability to do the extreme of possibility, just what sight seeing people did. As an instance of this I will relate what I once saw him do. I was walking on Walnut street between Highland avenue and the station, when behind me I heard the quick tap, tap, tap on the sidewalk, turning round I saw Mr. Campbell hurrying by his train. I will emphasize that by saying that he was actually running. To see a blind man running was a sight I never shall forget. Sir William Campbell has been highly honored by this action of King Edward and of others, but he reserves it all, he is not one to take undue credit to himself, but is, without doubt, thankful to the Lord that he has had the ability to supervise the great work that has been given him to do.

Sir William Campbell has been to England and the Continent what Dr. Howe was to the United States in the same line of work.

HORATIO CARTER.

Author of the Human Limit

(Copyright 1909 by Edwin Chase Merrill)

Men and women who are educated socially are graduates from the University of Life.

Sociology, regarded as human science, is the essence of all education since the object of all school and university training is to prepare the youthful mind to meet the demands of true manhood and womanhood—to

"spursus popos isquij aji jo make men good citizens and women good mothers, and both the upholders of the social order.

We have only to follow the trend of social events to sense the need among the younger members of society. There are too many mistakes made through the impression that competitive effort is better than cooperative methods. The condition of society produced by the secretive interdow of rivalry points to ignorance of the true social relation, and the happiness and health of whole communities are endangered by the can-ker worms of envy and jealousy where the warmth of sympathy and moral support should reign instead. The pride of accomplishment should be general as well as individual. The fact that individuality consists mainly in the ability of excelling in some one particular direction should discourage egotism and broaden the human consciousness.

There is need of clearer precepts to guide our youth in their efforts to understand the many social complications, which are too often mistaken for right actions.

Broad minds see from three points of view, two of which may not be their own originally. Narrow minds never judge of others except by themselves. Three-sided life has its precepts as well as its examples, and the moral and physical demands of the student should be as much a part of the school curriculum as the mental.

The grammar grades need ethical training as much as the high school and college. This need may be now met to some extent, but it is not deemed quite as important as most other subjects of study. How many special schools that claim to educate mentally, morally and physically succeed as well as they wish?

Moral training, with the manifest intention of creating a healthy and self-directed imagination is just beginning to attract the attention of modern educators. The fact that young people can be taught to cultivate and control the imaginative faculty is overturning educational methods.

The imaging power is also a strong factor in acquisition. It has been discovered that dull scholars can be made bright by arousing into activity the dormant imaginative energy. Industrial methods have proved this. Manual training has produced skill through motives of affection.

The freaks of too vivid imaginations can be transformed into working power for the good of the community and the drones made to contribute substantially to the general welfare. Were these methods introduced into the public schools, there would be less social parasites.

There is no doubt but what every study in the schools can be so presented to the learner as to employ the imaginative energy as well as the mental and physical. It is in reality the co-ordinating force in all acquisition, without the mental picture before the consciousness, it is time wasted to study the English language.

The same is true of all other subjects.

It has been ascertained beyond a doubt that the imaginative faculty is the seat of motive. It is the power of holding a working model before the consciousness while the mental faculties are busy with the working plan.

Industrial education is further showing us that the value of practical work in conjunction with the mental and imaginative activities is far beyond all other methods of acquisition.

Creative labor with a purpose that stimulates motive and thought, brings into full play all the human energies and co-ordinates them naturally. This is the process of three-fold development, and is as true in all the school grades as it is in the kindergarten and university.

An equal division of the attention, with reference to motive, thought and action, is the acme of concentration.

"Learning to do by doing" with the right motive and the right thought invariably results in the right action.

Practical results can be reached in all departments of education when the proper methods are devised in connection with each subject, to employ simultaneously the three human energies of imagination, calculation and work. In the imaginative realm is planted the motive; in the thought realm the plan is expressed in language, and in the physical realm the plan is executed. This method employs the energies of the whole human organism.

If all educational methods were pursued in this way, and correct habits of feeling, thinking and doing established early in life, social education would take care of itself.

POLICEMAN FINED

Officer Groth Loses Thirty Days Pay And Gets Reprimanded

Mayor Hutchinson's decision in the case of Patrolman William Groth of Newton Centre, who was given a private hearing last week, was made public last Saturday. Mayor Hutchinson finds him not guilty of breaking and entering the shop of A. I. English & Co., 63 Union street, but does find him guilty of neglect of duty. The mayor ordered the patrolman be reprimanded and fined 30 days' pay from July 1.

The mayor had the case under advisement for some time. In order to clear up some points in the testimony he had several persons, including the accused policeman, before him in a private conference in his office, on Friday.

The mayor sent his finding to Chief Mitchell. It was in part as follows: "Patrolman Groth was justified in entering the premises for the purpose of making an investigation if he discovered the outer door unlocked. As evidence that the door was locked is not conclusive I do not find him guilty of breaking and entering."

It is perfectly clear upon his own testimony that his investigations were thorough in as much as the presence of Robert W. English was not discovered; that he did then without knowledge or permission of the owners take and convert to his own use a roll of wire netting, although later paying for the same; that he failed to report to headquarters the condition in which he found the premises and his actions in connection therewith.

He has been in the police department over 11 years, until now without preferred charges and while this fact will be considered in his favor the present misdemeanors are serious and must be regarded as such. He is therefore to receive penalty by a reprimand and to be fined 30 days' pay from July 1.

TENNIS AT LONGWOOD

Eastern Doubles Championship and Nineteenth Annual Longwood Singles July 19 to July 24, 1909

The Tournament for the Eastern Doubles Championship and the Nineteenth Annual Longwood Singles will take place on the grounds of the Longwood Cricket Club, July 19th to July 24th inclusive.

Some of the actual entries already received are W. A. Larned, champion of the United States and holder of the Longwood Trophy, who will defend the cup and play with E. P. Larned in doubles, Wm. J. Clothier, ex-champion of United States, R. D. Little, Robt. Le Roy, R. H. Palmer, and C. F. Watson, Jr., of New York, J. L. Ames of Providence, R. I., and R. C. Seaver, champion of Massachusetts, N. W. Niles, F. J. Sulloway and A. S. Dabney, Jr., of Boston. Many other strong entries are confidently expected.

The presence of so many strong players will result in interesting matches throughout the week. Matches will occur both mornings and afternoons.

LAKE CHAMPLAIN TOURS

The sail by steamer from Burlington, on the Vermont shore, down Lake Champlain to old Fort Ticonderoga or northward among the beautiful 'North Islands' to North Hero or St. Albans Bay, is without question the most fascinating water trip in America. From end to end Lake Champlain is historically interesting and of its scenery there is at this late day nothing new to be said. Each new traveler has given a description of its beautiful beauties, but no description has yet been an adequate description. One must see Lake Champlain for himself to thoroughly appreciate it.

With the end in view of making it possible for all classes to visit this great inland sea, the anniversary of whose discovery has just been celebrated, the Central Vermont Railway offers from now till September 30 special round trip rates to Lake Champlain from Boston and all the principal New England cities. These tickets are good returning until October 31, and afford the opportunity of a lifetime. The cost of the trip from any point outside of Vermont will be promptly furnished on application to the Boston office, 360 Washington Street, which will also send hand-somely illustrated book on Lake Champlain and Vermont for six-cent stamp.

Congressman Weeks undoubtedly expressed the practical business sense of his district and the state in voting against the income tax measure in Congress, and yet in actual practice the taxation methods of this state and city are based upon the same principle as the income tax, that is, the ability to pay. This is strongly emphasized in the state tax recently levied. Newton with a population of less than 37,000 pays over $81,000 state tax, while Haverhill and Chelsea, with practically the same population, pay but $37,710 and $34,785 respectively.

Newton pays a heavier tax than New Bedford, with 74,000 people and $88, 425 tax, than Somerville with 61,643 population and $78,930 tax, than Lynn with 77,000 persons and $84,960 tax and double that of Brockton with $46,035 tax and 47,794 inhabitants.
The same principle is carried out in the amounts paid all over this Commonwealth for county expenses and is practically the basis of assessment in the Metropolitan district, altho population has entered slightly into some of those assessments. Local taxation attempts the same field, altho the tax dodger and his half brother, the man who refuses to make a taxable statement, nullify the results which ought to ensue. It is therefore evident that the income tax, while good Democratic doctrine, is no new thing in this Republican state, and if the constitution is amended so as to allow such form of taxation, the tax collector will follow on familiar lines.

A life long believer in the doctrine that the protective principle will work for the greatest prosperity of these United States, I have almost become a convert to free trade the past few weeks, by the hoggliness and greediness displayed at Washington on the tariff bill. It has seemed as if the consumer has been entirely neglected amid the conflicting claims of the producer and manufacturer. It should be borne clearly in mind, however, that the senate discussions and votes were but preliminary to the actual tariff making now in process in conference, and while I believe that at this distance the ordinary man cordially sympathize with the position taken by the so called Republican insurgents, it may be that Republican leaders have a clear cut program in mind, which will meet the wishes of the country for a reduction in cost of the necessaries of life. It is also well to understand that much of the newspaper stuff sent out from Washington is colored to suit the ends of this or that interest, and that the actual result of any tariff bill cannot be accurately predicted before it is placed in operation. I believe that the Republican party thoroly understands, however, that a failure to reduce prices on articles of common use, will be heavily punished at the polls of the next election.

the city are strongly urging ex-alderman George H. Ellis of West Newton to accept the position. Mr. Ellis would be a splendid candidate and would honor the city in accepting the office. Besides his high business ability, Mr. Ellis has had most valuable experience in the management of some of our state institutions and has in addition a wide and valuable acquaintance with the most influential men of the Commonwealth. With the conscientious work which Mr. Ellis would render, the city and state would be equally benefitted.

Representative Garcelon has spoken strongly against the direct nomination principle before the New York committee which is visiting Boston this week to investigate the subject.
It is really amusing to hear the so called practical politicians oppose the direct nomination idea which is spreading so fast that it will soon overwhelm them. Men who have controlled the political machinery of the state for many years, or hope to do so in the future, know that direct nominations will cut down their influence and correspondingly increase that of the average voter.

Representatives Garcelon and Blis-hop, who retire this year after three years of valuable and faithful service have earned the thanks of every good citizen of Newton for the clean and able manner in which each has discharged the duties of his office. Mr.
Garcelon, in particular, has been a most active and aggressive legislator and has achieved more than a local reputation in political circles. Both he and Mr. Bishop have worthily upheld the high standard, in the lower House, which has been Newton's proud boast for many years.

In my editorial of last week I inadvertently failed to mention the fact that Alderman Thomas W. White of the Upper Falls was the only candidate at that time mentioned on the south side of the city. In addition to Mr. Bothfield, I now hear rumors that Mr. George Royal Pulsifer of Newton-ville and Mr. Albert S. Hutchinson of Newton Highlands as possible candidates, altho the rumors to date are unverified.

There are rumors that in consequence of the reduction of the state tax and the revised form of the corporation tax that the coming tax rate will not soar as high as predicted last winter. No one will cry if it stays down, altho some increase over that of last year seems almost inevitable.

HAVILAND-WHITING

Miss Edith Helen Whiting, a niece of Mrs. Charles A. Clarke was quietly married yesterday noon at the Clarke residence on Hunnewell hill to Mr.
Daniel S. Haviland of Norwich, Conn.
The ceremony was performed by Rev.
Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace church in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by Mr. Clarke, and was gownned in a princess lace robe, with rose point bertha. She carried a shower bou-quet of sweet peas. Mr. Louis Dolbeare of East Orange, N. J., was the best man. A wedding breakfast followed with covers for forty guests.
The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white sweet peas and daybreak pinks. Mr. and Mrs. Havilland will reside at Norwich, Conn.

HOTEL IMPERIAL

The Hotel Imperial in Brighton is making extensive improvements in its cave and it is Mr. Murphy's intention to reclaim the dining business of the old Wilson Hotel of Brighton which was closed 30 years ago, and to attract the homeless patrons of Billy Parks. These two old time up-to-date hostelries have never been replaced.
The Imperial Hotel will make a specialty of sea foods, such as broiled live lobster, soft shell crabs and Poppennusset oysters. The University Club of Boston is the only caterer serving these oysters during the past five years. An account of the opening will be made in this paper in the near future.

TENNIS COURTS OPEN

The tennis courts owned by the city on Claffin field, Newtonville, will be open for public use on and after next Monday, July 19th, in charge of a competent caretaker, Mr. Sanderson.
As some expense will be entailed the following schedule of charges has been established: Members of Newton High school, $2.00 a year, or $1.00 for the vacation season ending Sept. 10.
Persons not members of the High school will pay $2.00 for the vacation season. Season ticket holders are entitled to bring guests at ten cents each for a half day's play and others can obtain the same privilege at fifteen cents for a half day.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Arthur McArthur, Jr., of 98 Stratford street, West Roxbury, was driving along Commonwealth avenue Tuesday evening with his parents and two guests in a large automobile. On taking the down grade near Grant street, in Newton, he came to a narrow space in the road where repairs were being made. Approaching from the opposite direction was another automobile, and both drivers put on speed in order to get into the narrow space first. When a collision seemed inevitable McArthur swung his steering wheel sharply to the right and went through a small wooden fence, down a steep thirty-foot bank, across a short bit of level space, and then up another bank to the level again before the machine stopped.
The only thing damaged was a front lamp.

CITY HALL

Asst. City Engineer Wm. P. Morse has returned from Mt. Washington, N.
H., where he spent a week at an outing of the Massachusetts Society of Civil Engineers.

Mr. Harold S. Young, the mayor's assistant, will spend his vacation at Flushing, R. I.

Asst. City Clerk Grant leaves today for a vacation in Maine.

VACATION SCHOOLS OPEN

The vacation schools in this city were opened Monday for a term of four weeks. The enrollment amounted to nearly 700 pupils, and in the Nonantum district the figures broke all records.

The attendance in Nonantum, where the classes will be taught in the Stearns building, is 600, which is considerably greater than the excellent advance made a year ago. Charlton D. Miller, principal of the Hyde school at Newton Highlands, is in charge, having four regular teachers and eight special assistants.

There is an enrollment of about 80 in the Newton Centre school, which is being taught as in former years in the Mason school building. Miss Mary Morse, who took charge of the vacation school when it was first started by the woman's club, is in charge, having six assistants. There will be taught in both schools bak-ketry, weaving, manual training, clay modeling, millinery, sewing and cooking. The term at Nonantum will close, according to present plans, with an exhibition which will be conducted by the pupils themselves.

POLICE

Jean F. Robbins of 17 Newbury street, Boston, a former resident of Newton Centre and a familiar character in court here, had difficulty in paying his fare on the last train to Newton Centre Friday night, with the result that he was arrested by Patrolman Larivee on a charge of drunkenness. Saturday morning he made his 15th appearance within a few years in the local courts. He was sentenced to two months in the house of correction, appealed and was held in $300 for the higher court.

The police are making a sharp effort to catch thieves who have been stealing quantities of garden hose in different sections of this city in the past few nights. Emory M. Cobb of Malden reports that 500 feet of 1/2-inch cotton hose, in 10 and 50-foot lengths valued at $22, had been taken from a small building owned by him on the Lower estate, Hammond street, Chester Hill and 100 feet of linen hose has been stolen from the H. W.
Robinson estate, 376 Lexington street, Auburndale. There have been a number of thefts of smaller quantities of hose.

Complaints of the killing of a considerable number of hens by different animals in the Oak Hill district have been made to the police this week.
Pigs killed a brood of hens on the premises of Mrs. Cornelia Schroot, 501 Dudley street, while dogs killed a considerable number on the premises of Lyman King of Boylston street. The police are investigating.

REAL ESTATE

Sarah J. Rand has sold, through the office of Alvord Bros., the lot of land on the western side of Furber Lane, between Commonwealth avenue and Homer street, Newton Centre, containing about 8,200 square feet, to W.
N. Stephenson. The new owner proposes to erect a house of concrete construction for his own occupancy.

CHARLES RIVER LOW

Many canoeists who had not visited the river here recently are surprised to find that the stream had lowered several feet since last Sunday. Motor boats, with the exception of those of very slight draught, could not be run with safety upstream farther than Riverside. It is believed here that the low water is due to great extent to large quantities being diverted at Waltham for power purposes, although continued dry weather has also had its effect.

LODGES

Home Lodge, 162, I. O. O. F., Newton Highlands, installed these officers last week Thursday: W. C. Avery, P.
G.; H. T. Hanton, N.G.; E. B. Musgrove, V.G.; W. T. Kempton, warden; J. T. Wascott, chaplain; J. W. Kent, O.S.; C. A. Chadwick, C.; W. H. Mitchell, R.S.N.G.; Charles Evans, L.S.
N.G.; Warren Corkum, R.S.S.; J. R.
Long, L.S.S.; J. W. Doane, R.S.V.G., and Harry Holbrook, L.S.V.G.

Free Advice.

The telephone in the office of a prominent New York lawyer rang, and when a clerk answered it the lady on the other end refused to give her name, saying she wanted to see the lawyer himself on private business. As soon as the lawyer himself picked up the receiver, before he could make any inquiries, she began, "Oh, please tell me, must there not be two copies of a lease?"

"Why," he answered, "it is usual to give one to the landlord's agent and one to the lessee. But who are?"

"The fact that the wife of the lessee had never seen a copy of the lease wouldn't keep it from being illegally binding?"

"No," slipped from the lawyer, who quickly added, "But before I discuss the matter further may I ask to whom?"

There was a pretty little laugh. He admits it was pretty even now. "Oh, I'm Mrs. Brown, and I live on Broadway. You don't know me"—It was obvious likewise that he wouldn't—but I've always heard your advice was so very valuable, and I wanted a lawyer, and so I just called you up. Goodby."

And when he asked for the number central gave him the Grand Central station!—New York Times.

The Canary's Toilet.

Just watch your canary after he has had his daily bath. See how each separate feather is cleaned, pulled and looked over and how all the loose ones are taken out and dropped. All this is done by the bill, for a bird's neck is so flexible that it can be turned in all directions, but the bill cannot reach the head, and so Mr. Canary uses his foot.
With it he combs his hair first on one side, then on the other, scratching very fast, as if to get all the tangles out.
Then he uses his hair oil, for, although complexion powders are not known in the bird world, hair oil certainly is.
Ladies and gentlemen alike carry it about with them. They have a little pouch or sack on the back near the tail for the purpose. When Mrs. Bird wishes to use it she squeezes it out with her beak, just as you would press a rubber bulb. Then she lays the oil on her back just above her wings and rubs her head against it, turning her neck in all directions until every feather in her head is straight and shining.

Red Cheeks in Addison's Day.

It seems that the "beauty doctor" is by no means a modern invention. The Atlantic cites an amusing advertisement to this effect printed in Addison's Spectator:

The famous Bavarian Red Liquor: Which gives such a delightful, blushing colour to the cheeks of those that are White or Pale, that it is not to be distinguished from a natural fine complexion, nor perceived to be artificial by the nearest friend. Is nothing of Paint, or in the least hurtful, but good in many Cases to be taken inwardly.
It renders the Face delightfully handsome and beautiful; is not subject to be rubb'd off like Paint, therefore cannot be discovered by the nearest friend. It is certainly the best Beautifier in the World. Is sold only at Mr. Payn's Toyshop at the Angel and Crown in St. Paul's Church-yard, near Cheshale, at 2s. 6d. A Bottle, with Directions.

The Yaws.

On the west coast of Africa the natives call the raspberry a yaw. It happens that one of the pleasing diseases that come out from that quarter of the globe is characterized by dusky red spots that appear on the body and soon grow into ulcers about the size and looks of the raspberry. So this disease is called the yaws. It is contagious and downright disagreeable.
White sailors bring it back with them to their own discomfort and the disgust of those at home. Yaws prevails also in the Fiji Islands and in Samoa, but in these two places children mainly are attacked, and the natives regard the disease in the same light as civilized persons look at measles—almost a certainty to have and the sooner over with the better.

Satisfied.

"People praise my work," said the artist boastfully.

"And they laugh at mine," rejoined the sad faced party, "but I don't mind."

"What is your line?" queried the artist.

"I'm a professional humorist," replied the other.—Chicago News.

Run Over Him.

"Oh, Mrs. Smith, do you know that your son Billy has been run over by a train?"

"Oh, dear, dear! My poor boy!
Whatever shall I do? Where did it happen?"

"Underneath the railway arch. Billy's standing there now!"—London Telegraph.

Not in His Line.

"They tell me," said the new reporter, who was doing an interview, "that you have succeeded in forging your way to the front."

"Sir," replied the self made man coddly, "you have been misinformed.
I'm no forger."

An Obstinate Maid.

Mr. Sappell—I wouldn't marry that Miss Gubby. She is terribly set in her ways. Mr. Sappell—Is that so? Mr.
Sappell—Yes, indeed. Why, she has refused me nine times!—Baltimore American.

The Treatment.

"Yes," said Mrs. Lappling, "Johnny's all right now. When he was bitten by that strange dog I took him to a doctor's and had the wound outcastrized right away."—Chicago Tribune.

His Knitting Work.

Aunt Alvira Fifer was what her neighbors called a "regular driver." Possessed of untiring energy and unfailing strength herself, she made little allowance for idleness on the part of any one, and she declared that she could "put up with a mean man easier than with a lazy one."

Aunt Alvira's husband, Uncle Ethan, was a small, wizened, weak looking man, whom Aunt Alvira declared to be "mighty wiry, if he did look so spindlin'."

One day a summer boarder who chanced to be staying at a farmhouse near the Fifer homestead wandered over to the little brown farmhouse and sat down for a chat with Aunt Alvira. The visitor took note of the enormous quantity of stove wood piled up in the back yard and overflowing from the great woodshed. The whole yard was strewn with it. The caller estimated that there were not less than twenty-five cords.

"What an enormous quantity of wood you have!" he said to Aunt Fifer. "Yes, there is considerable," she replied. "I call it on sellin' most o' it in the fall."

"Who cut it?"

"Oh, Ethan did it as sort o' knittin' work. I think it's a good thing for a man to have some kind o' knittin' work to do when he's restin', and that wood pile has been Ethan's knittin' work."—Youth's Companion.

George I. and the Stage.

George I. was a lover of the stage and, as his predecessors had done, caused his "servants" to play before him at court. In 1718 his majesty ordered the great hall of Hampton Court to be converted for the time into a theater. There, under the direction of Steele, "whose political services had been poorly recompensed by granting him some theatrical privileges," seven performances were given. Among the plays were "Hamlet," "Sir Courtly Nice," "The Constant Couple," "Love For Money," "Volpone" and "Rule a Wife and Have a Wife." Among the players were Colley Cibber, Pinkethman, Johnson, Thurmond, Booth, Mills, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Younger. In former times the fee paid by the sovereign to his servants for a play acted at Whitehall had been £20. For these plays at Hampton Court King George, besides paying the actors their ordinary day's wage and traveling expenses, gave £350 and added £200 for the managers. The players were required to act at any time upon receiving a day's notice.

The Modest Scot.

Love of country is so fine a virtue that it seems difficult to carry it to excess. A resident of a small village in the north of Scotland paid a business visit to London the other day. He happened to call on a merchant who unknown to him had once made a stay in his native place. In the course of conversation the visitor made use of an expression that led the other to exclaim, "Surely you come from Glen McLuskie?" The assertion, however, was denied. Presently, the merchant's surprise, another Glen McLuskie expression was heard. "My dear Mr. MacTavish, I feel convinced that you are a Glen McLuskie man after all," insisted the merchant.

"Well," returned the other, "I'll not deny it any longer."

"Then why didn't you say so at first?" demanded the Englishman.

"Well," was the calm response, "I didn't like to boast o' it in London."—London Chronicle.

Her Souvenir.

"Why did you hurry so?" he asked her when he had finally caught up with her at the foot of the stairs of the cafe.

"Do you remember how the waiter prepared to put a clean tablecloth on our table for fresh guests," she asked, "before we got through listening to the music?"

"Yes," said he.

"Well, then, here," she said and showed him a large white tablecloth that had been hidden under her coat. "This is it. He laid it on the window sill. Serves him right."

He gazed upon it in amazement. "Why didn't you let me know," he queried, "and I might have taken the table and walked out with that?"—New York Press.

Halcyon Days.

The term "halcyon days" is derived from a pretty little fable of the Sicilians, who believed that during the seven days preceding and following the winter solstice, Dec. 21, the halcyon or kingfisher floated on the water in a nest in which her young were deposited and that during this time of her brooding the seas were calm. Our Indian summer corresponds to the halcyon of the Sicilians.—New York Telegram.

Persons Grata.

The Old Bulldog—They're going to chain us up on Sunday nights now. The Young Bulldog—How's that, governor? The Old Bulldog—The new fellow that's started calling on Miss Manie has got money.—New York Press.

The Hidden Part.

"Oh, mamma," exclaimed four-year-old Floesie as she observed the moon in its second quarter, "come and look it the moon. Half of it is pushed into the sky, and the other half is sticking out."

Witty Dolly.

He—I say, Dolly, may I take your photograph? You look so pretty that I feel I could eat you. She—Oh, I see, that's why you want me on a plate, isn't it?

Precaution is better than repentance. —Greek Proverb.

Wouldn't Be Fooled Again.

A shepherd once, to prove the quickness of his dog, which was lying before the fire in the house where we were talking, said to me in the middle of a sentence concerning something else, "I'm thinking, sir, the cow is in the potatoes."

Though he purposely laid no stress on these words and said them in a quiet, unconcerned tone of voice, the dog, which appeared to be asleep, immediately jumped up and, leaping through the open window, scrambled up to the turf roof of the house, from which he could see the potato field. He then, not seeing the cow there, ran and looked into the barn where she was and, finding that all was right, came back to the house.

After a short time the shepherd said the same words again, and the dog repeated his lookout, but on the false alarm being the third time given the dog got up and, wagging his tail, looked his master in the face with so comical an expression of interrogation that he could not help laughing aloud at him, on which, with a slight growl, he laid himself down in his warm corner with an offended air, as if determined not to be made a fool of again.—London Standard.

One For the Minister.

An old minister in the south side of Glasgow who was noted for his habit of dishing up old sermons again and again was one day advertised to preach in a suburban church at the anniversary service there. An old woman who in days gone by had sat under his ministry, but who had now removed from his neighborhood, determined to go in and hear him preach on this particular occasion. After the close of the service she waited on the clergyman, who greeted her cordially and asked what she thought of his discourse. "Eh, man," she replied candidly, "it's a lang time sin' I first heard ye preach that yin, sir, and I've heard ye at it a guid when o' times sin' syne."

"Aye, Janet," said the minister. "How often do ye think ye've heard it, na?" "Oh, about a dozen o' times, sir," she replied. "An' div ye mind it?" said the minister. "Aweel, maybe no' it a, sir." "Weel, I see I'll need to preach it to ye again, Janet," said the minister, and Janet felt that she had been sold for once.

Settled a Great Question.

When Thomas H. Benton was in the house he was of the opinion that the 3d day of March and consequently the congressional term ended at midnight of that day instead of at noon on the 4th, as unbroken usage had fixed it. So on the last morning he sat with his hat on, talked loudly, loafed about the floor and finally refused to vote or answer to his name when the roll was called. At last the speaker, the Hon. James L. Orr of South Carolina, picked him up and put an end to these legislative larks.

"No, sir; no, sir; no, sir!" shouted the venerable Missourian. "I will not vote. I have no right to vote. This is no house, and I am not a member of it."

"Then, sir," said Speaker Orr like a flash, with his sweetest manner, "if the gentleman is not a member of this house the sergeant at arms will please put him out."

And so this vast constitutional question settled itself.—Argonaut.

Handy With an Ax.

One important feature in connection with the conducting of mining operations in Siberia is the aptitude of the Russian workman for the ax. Wood is so plentiful in the country that mining timbers may be figured on at a low rate. The current anecdote that a Russian workman will for a twenty kopeck piece lay his left hand, with fingers spread, on a board and with full strength make an ax cut between each finger cannot be vouched for, but it is certainly true that in pick timbering in bad ground, in erecting buildings, log cabins and all manner of wood joining the equal of the Russian peasant cannot be found.—London Globe.

Moroccan Red Tape.

Official correspondence in Morocco is couched in a very flowery and flamboyant style. It is interspersed with a variety of meaningless adulatory phrases that tend to confound the real meaning of the epistle. For example, an order to the minister of finance to contract a loan begins thus: "In our present letter (God increase his power and make the glorious sun and his moon glitter in the firmament of his felicity) we have authorized our incorruptible servant (here follows name) to contract in the name and on the behalf of the treasury (heaven fill it) a loan of —" etc.

Considering that the "incorruptible servant" is dishing as much as he possible can from the treasury it is certainly necessary to pray that "heaven fill it."—London Graphic.

UPPER FALLS PLAYGROUND

The Newton Upper Falls Village Improvement Society has sent its check for $2500 to City Treasurer Newhall, this being its part of the payment toward a playground in that district. The city government has appropriated $2000, completing the required amount of $4500. Dudley field, lying between Chestnut street and the Charles river, will be acquired for the playground. This morning Mayor Hutchinson said that the title to the land is now being looked up, and that as quickly as this matter is straightened out the work of fitting up the grounds will be started. It is proposed to lay out the baseball diamond in better condition and to make a number of other improvements this summer, but the most elaborate changes to the grounds will not take place until another year. The members of the Upper Falls Improvement Society are receiving much praise for the quickness with which they raised the necessary money for the project, once active work was begun.

Safety For Your Estate

Our method of administering estates and trust funds has not only all the advantages of an individual trusteeship, but other points of superiority that one-man direction cannot have. Sickness, accident or death cannot endanger a trust confided to us, because no one man is responsible for it. Our executive board act together, and are ready for business every business day in the year.

Every investment made, or other important action taken, represents the collective wisdom of a group of men expert in trust management, and their services cost an estate no more than it would pay an individual.

All our securities are officially inspected three times a year. We give bonds equal to twice the amount of the personal property of an estate we administer; and these bonds are backed by a guarantee of $4,500,000. An individual acting as executor or trustee rarely is required to give security.

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre—There is no better indication of the rapid strides made in vaudeville and the degree to which it is drawing upon the legitimate stage than is shown by the Romany Opera Company at Kelth's. Here is a company as large as one you would find on the road, giving a full evening's entertainment of the most pretentious operas. In fact it has more soloists and more good voices than one would find in the average road company, and yet it is only one act in the bill at Kelth's, a part of an up to date vaudeville performance. This company has made a tremendous hit during the week, presenting an operetta and beautiful stage settings, and in which is introduced some of the best known and most tuneful selections from grand opera. In the selections themselves splendid judgment has been used, and it is an easy matter to understand the favor with which this company has been received. For its second week a number of changes will be made although the demand for the selections sung last week will make it impossible to keep some of these in the program. From the dramatic standpoint Richard Crollus & Co. will furnish another example of high class legitimate comedy reduced to twenty-five minutes which will ordinarily take a whole evening. Mr. Crollus makes his first appearance here as a star and he comes with a sketch that has been attracting a vast amount of attention on the Kelth circuit. Bert Howard and Effie Lawrence are real vaudeville entertainers and they have a sketch called "The Stage Manager," in which there is nothing but fun. Others are Hoey and Lee, two Hebrew comedians who are always popular; the 4 Readings, remarkable gymnasts; Anderson & Goines, two well known entertainers; the Three Mullers and Chum; Henry & Lizel in a dancing act and Louis Granat, the famous whistling soloist.

Orpheum Theatre—A most important dramatic announcement and one that will be gladly welcomed by all theatre-goers is that of Manager Lindsay Morrison to the effect that his all star Stock Company at the Orpheum Theatre will next week present an elaborate version of "Joan Of Arc." The story of "Joan Of Arc" is too well known to need any comment and with dramatic touches which will be added to it next week, it promises to be one of the finest pieces ever produced on a Boston stage. The character of "Joan" will be in the hands of Miss Edna Bruns, whose work since the beginning of the summer season makes it certain that she will give it a highly artistic portrayal. All the other favorites in the company will be included in the cast, among them being: Howell, Hansel, Mary Sanders, Walter Walker, Rose Morrison, Katherine Clinton, William Hasson, Wyrley Birch and James Devine. Manager Morrison is particularly pleased to announce that he has secured for a heavy dramatic part in the piece that favorite Boston actor Frank Sheridan who scored the original success in "Paid In Full." Mr. Sheridan has been engaged especially for this production, and his work is sure to make the production one long to be remembered.

How Moody Got Out of It.
 Many were the interesting experiences belonging to the first Northfield conference called by D. L. Moody. One especially showed Mr. Moody himself in his varying phases. It was the conversation hour at noon, and about 100 men were sitting under the tent on Round Top.

Mr. Moody, leaning sturdily against the tent pole, led the meeting. Suddenly there came from him the plump question, "Brethren, how many of you have so grown in grace that you can bear to have your faults told?"

Many hands went up. Quick as a flash, but neither sharply nor insultingly, Mr. Moody turned to a young minister and said:

"Brother, you have spoken thirteen times in twelve days here and perhaps shut out twelve other good men from speaking."

It was true. The young man had been presuming and officious. He had held up his hand, but he could not bear to be children, and now he stoutly defended himself, only making matters worse. Then another minister broke forth and berated Mr. Moody for his bluntness. The latter blushed, but listened until the reproof was done. Then he suggestively covered his face and spoke through his fingers, "Brethren, I admit the fault my friend charges me with; but, brethren, I did not hold up my hand!"

World's Largest Barometer.

The biggest barometer in the world is in the city of Faenza, Italy. It is a monument to Torricelli, inventor of the barometer, who was born in that city 300 years ago. The scale of this barometer is on a basis of feet where the ordinary barometer is measured in inches. The liquid column is thirty-seven feet high at normal. It was intended to use a thirty-two foot column of water, but this was abandoned because water evaporated too quickly. Then glycerin was tried, but with this liquid the normal height was only twenty-seven feet, which was not enough. Olive oil was chosen finally. The tube rests against a monumental pillar of stone. Olive oil is the lightest liquid yet used for a barometer. When a lighter one is made available a taller barometer may be constructed. Pascal made barometers of water and wine mixed. Zophar Mills of New York made a glycerin barometer, and Jaubert set up one of water in the famous Tour St. Jacques, the weather bureau center of Paris.—Detroit Free Press.

Don't Abbreviate Names.

Your letter to Napoleon Village went wrong, eh? said the postmaster. "Well, it's your own fault. You should have written out the name of the state in full."

"Ah, what for?" snarled the complainant. "I put 'Tenn.' on the envelope. That couldn't be confused with any other state name."

"How about 'Penn.?' said the postmaster. "Aren't 'Penn.' and 'Tenn.' a lot alike? Of course they are, and if people want their letters to go straight and prompt they ought always to write states out in full, for 'Cal.' and 'Col.' get confused continually; so do 'Nev.' and 'Neb.' 'N. Y.' and 'N. J.' 'Miss.' and 'Mass.' and 'Minn.' 'Pa.' and 'Va.' 'Me.' and 'Mo.'—Cincinnati Enquirer.

History.

History is a running account of how King Somebody—or other either did or did not get to a certain place, which nobody ever heard of, before King Somebody-else got there, from which we are usually supposed to conclude that it would have made quite a difference whether he did or not.

Like nearly everything else, history has two sides. The history of the garden of Eden depends upon whether it is related by a man or a woman.

The history of the American Revolution reads quite different in English books from the way it reads in our own books.

History is a bore, not only because you are unacquainted with the people who figure in it, but because it repeats itself.—Life.

Her Base Ingratitude.

When Duchenois, the great French actress, died some one met an old man who had been her intimate friend and who was apparently crushed with sorrow. Kindly meant professions of sympathy and consolation failed to cheer him. "For," said he, "it is not so much her loss which troubles me as her base ingratitude. Can you credit it? She left me nothing in her will, and yet I dined with her at her own house three times a week regularly for thirty years!"

The Human Touch.

"But, my dear sir, your play does not even touch the chords of humanity!" remarked a theatrical lessee, referring to a comedy that he had designed to scan.

"What! No human touch? Great Scott!" exclaimed the dramatist. "And the hero is always borrowing money from his friends!"

Vengeance.

"I wonder at your allowing Elx to marry your daughter. I thought you were moral enemies."

"That's just the reason. Now he will have my wife for his mother-in-law."—Exchange.

She Got a New One.

"Mr. Hornbill—Do you know, darling, I could pick you out of a crowd of women just by your style! Mrs. Hornbill—I don't wonder, and me with this same old dress for the last two years!"

Life is a little gleam of time between two eternities.—Carlyle.

The Steam Engine.

The Marquis of Worcester while imprisoned in the Tower of London in 1688 invented and constructed a perfect steam engine and had it publicly exhibited the same year at Vauxhall in successful operation. Thirty-four years later, in 1800, Dennis Papin added the piston to the marquis' discovery. In 1808 Captain Savary devised and built a steam engine different in many details from those made by Worcester and Papin, and in 1705 Newcomb, Cawley and Savary constructed their celebrated atmospheric engine, which was complete in every detail. The above array of historical facts notwithstanding, James Watt, who was not born until sixty years after these great men had given the steam engine to the world, enjoys the distinction of being the veritable inventor, originator and author of the most useful contrivance of the present day. Fulton, who lived and worked in the early part of the nineteenth century, is given the credit of being the man who demonstrated that steam could be applied to navigation—this, too, in face of the well known historical fact that De Gary propelled a vessel by steam in the harbor of Barcelona in 1543.—St. James' Gazette.

Genius and Misfortune.

Homer was a beggar; Plautus turned a mill; Terence was a slave; Boethius died in jail; Paul Borghese had fourteen trades and yet starved with them all; Tasso was often in distress for 5 shillings; Bontivoglio was refused admission into a hospital he himself had erected; Cervantes died of hunger, and Vagelas left his body to the physicians to pay his debts so far as the money would go; Sir Walter Raleigh died on the scaffold; Spenser, the charming, died in want; the death of Collins was through neglect, first causing mental derangement. Milton sold his copy of "Paradise Lost" for $75 at three payments and finished his life in obscurity; Dryden lived in poverty and distress; Otway died in the street; Steele lived a life of perfect warfare with the bailiffs; Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" was sold for a trifle to save him from the grip of the law; Savage died in prison at Bristol, where he was confined for a debt of $40; Butler lived a life of penury and died poor; Chatterton, the child of genius and misfortune, destroyed himself.

Arms and the Woman.

"Did anybody ever see a man armed woman?" asked a gray bearded man as he surveyed the afternoon parade. "I never did. Almost every day I meet one armed man, but I have yet to encounter a woman with that pitifully empty sleeve. Are there no women who have suffered that mutilation? If not, why not? And, if so, where are they?"

"Yesterday I heard it argued that there was no cause for a woman to lose an arm; that women do not go to the wars and are not engaged in occupations that are likely to carry away a part of their body. But that reasoning is not sound. Many women work in mills and factories, and they are as liable to accidents in the streets and public conveyances as men. Frequently they figure in these accidents; but, although men in the same situation would lose an arm, women never do."

"What is the cause of their immunity?"—New York Globe.

Keeping Time in Holland.

"Railroad time, as we generally understand the phrase in the United States, is a little ahead of the town time, but in The Hague, the quaint old capital of Holland, all private and unofficial clocks and watches are kept twenty minutes fast," said a traveler. "When it is noon in the railway station, postoffice and other government buildings of The Hague the timepieces in the shops and the watches of the sturdy burghers show 12:20 p. m. Just what reason there is for this I don't know, although I asked enlightenment in many quarters. It seems a custom that has been handed down for generations, and the Dutch are too conservative to change the ways of their progenitors without some mighty inducement."—Baltimore American.

Attraction.

Fruits fall to the earth because the earth attracts them. Bubbles in a cup of tea stand around the sides of the cup because the cup attracts them. The little bubbles gather about the large ones because the large bubbles attract the smaller ones. Why do the bubbles follow a teaspoon? Because the spoon attracts them. Why are the sides of a pond covered with leaves, while the middle is clear? Because the shore attracts the leaves to itself.

They Changed.

A Vienna paper relates an anecdote of the painter Makart, who was sometimes as taciturn as Van Moltke. One evening at a dinner he sat for an hour next to the sottobre Josephine Gullmeyer without volunteering a word. Finally she lost patience and exclaimed: "Well, dear master, suppose we change the subject."

His Mistake.

"I am very sorry to hear, captain, that your wife left you so uncereemoniously."

"My mistake, sir. I took her for a mate, and she proved to be a skipper."

Always After Us.

"No matter what we do, there is one class of people who will always be after us," declared a funny man.

"Who are they?"

"Posterity."

Says the woman, "Oh, that mine enemy would let me trim a hat for her."—Cleveland Leader.

Human Heart as a Power Engine.

A great physician once remarked that, despite its complexity, there was no organ of the body readier to adapt itself to circumstances or more capable of repaying ordinary care than the heart. This is very true, and an appreciation of that fact should cause us all the more carefully to follow the wise man's advice and to keep our heart with all diligence. When we have regard to the tremendous work the heart accomplishes we might well with Wesley say, "Strange that a harp of a thousand strings should keep in tune so long." Estimated in scientific fashion, a man's heart in twenty-four hours performs an amount of work which if represented by the energy demanded for a big lift would raise 120 tons of weight one foot high. Such a calculation can be accurately determined by measuring the force expended in one beat or cycle of movement of the heart and multiplying the short work into that of the day. Thus in no small degree does the heart's labor contribute to swell the big total of the energy the human engine expends each day it lives.—New York World.

Culinary Courtship.

Janet had molded the domestic affairs of the family with whom she lived for so many years that the news of her intended marriage had much the effect of an earthquake. "Have you and David been engaged long?" ventured the mistress of the household.

"One week when next Sabbath comes," stated Janet briefly.

"And—had you any thought of marrying before that?" asked her mistress.

"Times I had and times I had not," said the importunate Janet, "as any person will. But a month ago when I gave David a wee bit of the cake I'd been making and he said to me, 'Janet, have you the recipe for your mind lass, so you could make it if Mrs. Mann's book would be far from your reach?' I knew well the time was drawing short."

"And when," said Janet, closing her eyes at the recollection, "I said to him, 'David, lad, the recipe is copied in a little book of my own,' and I saw the glint in his eye I reckoned 'twould be within the month he'd ask me."

Hippo's Mouth an Impressive Sight.

The hippopotamus is a sort of floating island which inhabits the African rivers. To see a hippopotamus rise out of the water and go away is as disconcerting to the tourist as it would be to see a sand bar get out of the Missouri river and chase a cow. The hippo—life is too short to write his full name—is a big brother of the pig. He weighs five tons, and a gargoyle is cute and pretty beside him. He is fat and faddy, covered with a reddish skin adorned with bristles and has a broad, flat head as wide as a dinner table. The mouth of the hippo is another of nature's African extravaganzas. He has mouth enough to do the eating for a boys' boarding school. His jaws are very flexible, and those who have gazed into the inner works of a hippo when he has opened his vast pink lined mouth, studded here and there with tusks that look like broken off Grecian columns, have been impressed with the sight.—Collier's Weekly.

How Rats Move Eggs.

Strange as the story may appear of rats removing hens' eggs from the bottom to the top of a house by one rat lying on his back and grasping tightly his ovoid burden with his fore paws while his comrades drag him away by the tail, I have no reason to write a naturalist, to disbelieve it. I have seen two rats accomplish the feat from stair to stair in a farmhouse in Banffshire, the first anxious rodent pushing the egg up on its hind legs and the second assistant lifting it up with its fore legs. It was the best athletic feat I ever witnessed, but it is not out of the common. The rat will extract the contents from a flask of Florence oil, dipping in his long tail and repeating the maneuver until he has consumed all that can be reached.

His Mistake.

The vender of images, who had just been thrown out of a large office building, wept bitterly as he looked at his torn clothes and broken wares.

"Who did this?" inquired the friendly cop. "I'll pinch 'em if you say the word."

"No; it was my fault," said the victim, gathering up the remains of a plaster image. "I insisted on trying to sell a bust of Noah Webster to a meeting of simplified spellers."—Denver Republican.

Some Excuse For the Sun.

Artist—There, sir, is my latest picture. Ingenious Friend—Well, you haven't economized paint on it, have you? What title have you given to it? Artist—What do I call it? Why, sir, that is an autumn sunset. Ingenious Friend—You don't say so! Well, I don't blame the sun at all for setting.

Color in Lies.

It's a white lie when mamma tells papa what baby has been saying, but when papa goes and repeats it at the office it's another matter; a lie becomes more or less colored by being mopped around.—Exchange.

His Choice.

Bustin Seems—How'd yer like to be one of dese here furrin rulers, Sel? Seldum Shaves—Not me, Bus. I'd a lot rather be a king bum dan a bum king.—Kansas City Times.

It is better to lend than to give. To give employment is better than either.—Talmud.

PROF. THOMAS B. LINDSAY DEAD

Prof. Thomas B. Lindsay of Boston university died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. W. Allen, at Louisville, Ky. Prof. Lindsay was on a visit to his daughter and became ill two weeks ago. Last week his condition grew critical and he finally succumbed to heart disease.

Thomas Bond Lindsay was born in New York, April 28, 1853, and received his early education at the Genesee Wesleyan seminary, from which he went in 1869 to the Boston Latin school. He was graduated from Wesleyan university in 1874, receiving the degree of A.M. The following three years he spent in study in the universities of Heidelberg and Leipzig, making a special study of Latin and Sanskrit, in which he was a recognized authority and of which he had been professor at Boston university since 1884.

Returning from Europe Prof. Lindsay taught in the Newton high school previous to becoming assistant professor of Latin and Sanskrit at Boston university, later becoming professor of these languages.

Aside from his work as an educator, Prof. Lindsay edited the works of Cornelius Nepos, and with Mr. Rollins prepared "Easy Latin Lessons," and he also edited "Slight Slips in Latin." He had written, in addition, articles on Juvenal and Terence, Warner's "Library of the World's Best Literature," and "The Place of the Classics in the Modern Curriculum."

He was a member of the American philological association, the American oriental society and American institute of archaeology, was a member of the Twentieth Century club, of which he was secretary for some time; the Schoolmasters' club, the Friday club, the Brae-Burn country club and the Boston city club.

He married Ada A. Hubbard in Middletown, Conn., in 1874, and resided on Balcarras road, West Newton.

It is believed boys have been responsible for most of the trouble. The police and the railroad officers are making every effort to stop the practice.

BOY KILLED

John Byrne, aged 17, died Friday evening in Newton hospital as a result, it is believed, of injuries received in falling down an elevator well in a mill at Nonantum where he had been employed the previous day.

He had worked in the mill only a few days, late Thursday afternoon he in some way stepped into the elevator well and fell a distance of about 20 feet. His injuries were not at first regarded as serious, and he was carried by companions to his home at 19 Crescent street.

Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher was called to attend the boy, and found that he had sustained a fractured skull and other injuries. Dr. Gallagher sent him at once to Newton hospital, where every effort was made to save the boy's life. The boy was a pupil in Newton high school, and lived with his mother, Mrs. Fanny P. Byrne, in the Nonantum district.

Funeral services were held Monday morning, the burial being in Calvary cemetery, Waltham.

SCHOOL CONDITIONS

Educators are more and more coming to look upon the repeater who drags on two or three years in one grade as a trustworthy barometer of school efficiency.

In a recent number of the Psychological Clinic, Leonard P. Ayres, who is in charge of the investigation conducted by the Russell Sage Foundation of New York City into school conditions in American cities, computes the direct financial loss endured annually by 55 American cities as the result of the "repeater." In the schools of these cities there are nearly two million children of whom over 300,000 are spending their second, third or fourth year in the same grade. Mr. Ayres estimates that these wasteful rehearsals devour annually nearly $14,000,000.

Among all of the cities studied Somerville, Mass., makes the best record with only a little more than 6 per cent of her pupils in the repeating class. The first 10 cities are all in New England and 8 of them are in Massachusetts. In Boston and Springfield 10 per cent of the children are repeaters, and 10 per cent of the school funds are annually expended on the wasteful process of restructing them in work they have already covered once, twice or more times.

The city of Newton occupies the 5th place among the 55 cities studied. Here Mr. Ayres claims that 8.1 per cent or 516 children are repeaters. This means that our "repeaters" annually consume $20210 of our school funds.

This huge sum represents almost pure waste analogous to that caused in a factory by a mechanic toiling two hours over a task that one hour ought to see finished. In no factory on earth would such loss be tolerated. Our schools can ill afford to ignore the twice taught, thrice taught child.

The results of the Russell Sage educational inquiry will furnish to educators all over the country facts concerning their schools which they cannot afford to ignore. The announcements which are now being made and which will soon be put in their entirety at the disposal of school authorities tell for a large number of American cities such facts as the number and cost of repeaters, the number of backward or retarded children, the rate at which the pupils progress through the grades, the proportion of beginners who continue until they graduate from the elementary course, and many other similar significant measures of school efficiency. These figures will give American school men for the first time standards by which they can judge their schools, compare them with those of other cities, and discover how nearly they have attained the highest possible degree of efficiency.

SOCIAL EDUCATION

Mr. John W. Zeller, the State School Commissioner-elect of Ohio has a very interesting article on "The Newer Education" in the June number of the Normal Instructor.

In this article he places considerable stress upon "Imagination as the supreme faculty of the soul" and that the training of this faculty in connection with the various subjects taught in the public schools, (notably geography, drawing, art and nature study) is engaging the attention of the foremost educators in the world at the present time.

Mr. Zeller does not infer that either a moral or religious result is sought in his effort to direct the minds of teachers into this new field, but admits "there is danger of losing sight of preparation for the nation's civic and moral life" in the industrial system. He treats imagination as a neglected faculty in practical education, and places emphasis on the importance of industrial methods as the distinctive feature of the new education.

There is quite a prevailing belief that the energy of the soul of man requires special training by religious teachers, mainly outside the public schools.

That it is an important factor in the practical acquisition of any subject, at all useful in life, is being demonstrated on every hand.

The fact that a proper training of the imagination has been for the most part, neglected in schools (the kindergarten excepted) accounts for many moral defects in the school and college graduate, and is mainly responsible for strong corrective movements that may be termed semi-religious.

The Emmanuel Movement and Christian Science are, perhaps, the most notable instances of strong, concerted effort to stay the tide of diseased minds and bodies through lack of imaginative co-ordination at that plastic stage in life when the public schools play the most prominent part.

The Emanuel Movement reaches a class of people whose imaginations are diseased through disuse, or degenerated through wrong use, while Christian Science removes the evil effects of wrongly-developed and overwrought imaginations.

Both movements are significant and show the direct influence of a normal and healthy imagination upon the physical body.

In his lecture on "The Church and Psychotherapy" before the Harvard summer school of theology last week, Prof. Hugo Munsterberg sees danger in both these movements as placing too much power in ignorant hands and outside the knowledge and skill of the medical profession. He expresses a preference, however, for Christian Science, but blames the doctors for their tardy recognition of the mental forces in the healing of disease.

Suggestion and religious emotion are denominated as the curative agents by Prof. Munsterberg.

From these diverse points of view some important facts may be easily figured out. Doctors, ministers, mental scientists, psychologists and the foremost educators are waking up to the fact that a diseased or unskilled body is the result of a diseased or unskilled mind, which, in turn, is the result of a diseased or unskilled imagination, or soul faculty.

Educators are working on industrial lines, which co-ordinates the physical energy with the mental and imaginative, not only to educate the young practically and effectively, but to make them useful and healthy members of society.

They are boldly striving to prevent the ills which others are semi-religiously endeavoring to cure.

If disease is the result of wrong thinking, wrong mental images and wrong resultant actions, it is the business of education to change its methods of training the coming generations. That this idea is rapidly gaining ground among the leading educators in this country, can be seen by anyone who takes the trouble to keep pace with the signs of the times.

The so-called "cults" are merely remedies for existing evils which have resulted from wrong methods employed in training the young, and the prevailing idea that success in life depends largely upon a person's ability to get a living without work.

When it is considered that all learning is acquired by "suggestion," all mental acts are performed by "suggestion," and all forms of labor, skilled and otherwise, are but the repetition of former sets of movements which are reproduced by "suggestion," and that the imagination is not only the correlating, but the suggesting power equally with thought and sensation, it can be readily deduced that the much misunderstood force of "suggestion," as applied to either education, morality, or executive ability is merely a recognition of a neglected faculty in the human being and placing it beyond the reach of ignorance and superstition.

The coming educational science is psycho-physics, which includes the absolute necessity of constructive development towards practical ideals, and the employment of all the energies of mind, soul and body, in every motive, thought and action from the cradle to the grave.

The attention of our readers is called to the ad of the School of Successful Salesmanship, which will be found in another column of this paper.

This school, founded five years ago, and working along original and unique lines, has already made a name for itself by the results it has produced.

Many instances have been shown where they have taken young men from underpaid positions of from $10 to $15 a week, and made it possible for them to start in commercial life at salaries of from $1200 to $3000 per year with expenses.

Graduates of this school are eagerly sought by leading Boston Houses, and the school already has more opportunities for its graduates than graduates to fill them.

We would advise any young man who is looking for a desirable opening to call upon them or write them at their address, 15 Beacon street, mentioning this paper, and receive full information.

The base ball team defeated the Stanleys by the one sided score of 13 to 4. The batteries were Wood and Loneragan for Newton, Howard and Dunne for Stanleys. Up to the 5th inning the game was very close but after that the Y. M. C. A. team had it all their own way. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Newton	2	1	0	3	4	0	3	x	—13
Stanleys	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	2	—4

On July 24 the team plays the Odell Club at Cabot Park. The game will be called at near 3 P. M. as possible.

A leading citizen of Beaver Falls has offered one-tenth the cost of a new building, $20,000 or $50,000, because, he said, "I believe the greatest need Beaver Falls has is a new Y. M. C. A. Building."

care which they must give to tender, growing things. It develops honesty, since the child acquires through his own ownership a greater respect for the property right of others. It fosters patriotism. He who beautifies and adorns his own home loves it and will defend it. "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war," and he who defends his home and country from the evils of graft and political corruption is no less a patriot than he who shoulders a musket and marches to battle. But the crowded tenements of the cities are not as productive of that deep love of home and country as is the snug little suburban home with its yard and garden. The school and home garden, then, for the city boy will beget in his heart a love for living, growing things, a love that in later years may be strong enough to lure him from the smoky, crowded city, to make a home for himself outside her gates, where his children may partake of a sweeter, purer environment.

Whatever women's clubs are able to accomplish for school and home gardens will not be labor lost, but will be returned to them a hundred-fold in their own community. If we are to teach civic righteousness, there is no better way to begin than by encouraging the children to be industrious and to beautify their own surroundings. If we desire more beautiful towns and cities, plant the love for these in the child's heart, and when he is grown, not even the lust for gold will be able to uproot it.

THEATRES

Keith's Theatre—For a number of years the event of the summer season has been the engagement of the Fadette Women's Orchestra, and this summer they return after an absence of two years. Boston has always taken particular pride in this splendid organization, without question the greatest woman's orchestra in the world, and one that is as popular in other cities as it is here at home, even more so. Since their last appearance here, Mrs. Caroline Nichols, the director, and her band of young women, have toured the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and in the far West they proved to be as big a sensation in a musical way as they have been in the East. The orchestra is peculiarly identified with Boston. In fact it is their home city and is always associated with their title, no matter where they happen to be, and at Keith's the place of their first great success, they will be seen and heard at their best. This season they will give a series of popular concerts both afternoon and evening before the regular vaudeville performance. The orchestra will have its full strength of forty members in new costumes and a beautiful stage setting. Aside from the music, the picture presented by these forty attractive young women players is one that will always be remembered with pleasure. Their programs will change weekly and everybody in New England who loves music should take advantage of this opportunity. The Fadettes will be a distinct feature on a vaudeville bill of unusual character. It will include the Dankmar-Schiller Troupe, one of the greatest companies of acrobats that ever come to this country; Marion Carson, the dainty Miss who was for a number of years such a strong feature of the Weber and Field forces; Fox and the Millership Sisters in a lively act; Emerin Campbell and Aubrey Bates will present for the first time a one act comedy entitled "Two Hundred Miles from Broadway." Others are Morrow & Schellberg in a singing & dancing sketch, Veronica & Hurl-Palls in an acrobatic novelty and Ed Morton whose voice is familiar to everybody through the phonograph.

Orpheum Theatre—Willie Collier's play, "Caught In The Rain," proved such a success at the Orpheum Theatre two weeks ago, that Manager Lindsay Morrison has decided to put on this coming week another of Mr. Collier's formidable pieces, "The Man From Mexico." This piece has enjoyed one of the greatest revivals in the annals of dramatic productions. "The Man From Mexico" is a farce comedy with plot enough to hold the interest, but not enough to cause any fatigue in following it. It tells the story of a man who deceives his wife into believing that he is going to Mexico for ten days when in reality he has been sentenced to serve ten days on Blackwell's Island. The lines are crisp, witty and altogether typical of Mr. Collier and the situations are side-splitting.

THE GLOUCESTER WATER TRIP

For a hot day's outing there is nothing more enjoyable and exhilarating than a North shore trip to Gloucester by one of the Boston & Gloucester steamship boats. "It is the real thing." The boats leave Central wharf, foot of State street, week days at 10 A. M. and 2 P. M., and leave Gloucester at 3 A. M. and 2.15 P. M. The Sunday boat leaves Boston at 10.15 A. M.

"PARAGON PARK."

The regular Saturday night fireworks display were the big feature of the program last Saturday evening at Paragon, the park de luxe. Nothing to equal in novelty and elaborateness these Chinese and Italian fireworks has ever been seen here before. Manager Dodge inaugurated his series of 4th of July celebrations every Saturday night at Paragon. The crowd that came down specially last Saturday night to see the pyrotechnics was enormous, and the crowd on succeeding Saturday nights will doubtless be even larger. Many take advantage of this extra attraction by arriving early enough to secure a table in the Palm Garden or one on the verandas where they may discuss the menu and wine list at leisure while commanding a fine view of the fireworks on the lagoon and at the same time enjoy the band concerts.

Bonette's war balloon ascensions and parachute drops are still a regular feature of the free attractions, as well as his terrific whirling slide for life from the top of the electric tower to the balloon grounds, and the thrilling high dive made by Bigney from a height of 150 feet into a small tank of water only 18 inches deep.

The appeal for funds to educate the children of the late Desire A. Vanderpool should receive a most hearty response from this city, where the father was well known and respected.
In a sense Mr. Vanderpool gave his life for others, for the murderous impulse of the insane person who killed him, might have been carried out on any one of my readers. The sympathy of everyone goes out to the afflicted family, whose father and husband is taken away in a moment while engaged in the most peaceful of occupations. Let Newton answer the appeal for funds in a most generous manner.

It is good news indeed, to learn that Mr. George H. Ellis of West Newton has finally yielded to the solicitations of his friends and will consent to the use of his name as a candidate for the Republican nomination for representative from this district. I can only reiterate and emphasize anew the sentiments I expressed in last week's GRAPHIC upon the desirability of having such a man as Mr.
Ellis accept this office and I believe that the city of Newton is extremely fortunate in obtaining the consent of Mr. Ellis to serve.

In another column of the GRAPHIC I print an extract relative to the efficiency of public school systems of the country. It should be borne in mind when reading this article that the standard of education varies in different municipalities and while one city may have such a low standard as to pass along all its pupils, as so obtain a high rank for so called efficiency, another city, whose standard is higher may have a large number of "re-peaters." If all schools had a uniform standard the comparison would be of value.

CITY HALL

The street department employees, under direction of Commissioner Charles W. Ross, have started work in one of the largest sections of street work that will be undertaken in this city this year. This will be the resurfacing of the south roadway of Commonwealth avenue boulevard, from Weston to Lake street, a distance of nearly five miles. Work has already been started at Weston bridge, opposite the Auburndale station of the Metropolitan park police, and the work will be pushed eastward as rapidly as possible.

The forestry department has installed swings and basketball apparatus on the playground at Stearns school, Nonantum, and has placed swings on the Newton Centre playground. Other apparatus will be installed on these playgrounds later. Other than laying out a baseball diamond and making a few minor improvements little other work will be done to the Newton Upper Falls playground this summer, according to present plans.

DEATH OF MRS. SHELTON.

Miss M. Emma Shelton passed away at the Newton hospital last Tuesday morning after an illness of several weeks' duration. She was the daughter of the late William Beardsley Shelton and was a native of Madison, Wis., where she was born 60 years ago. She resided in the south previous to and during a part of the civil war coming to Newton while a young girl and making her home with her brother-in-law and sister, Judge and Mrs. Carruth. Newton had been her home for about 45 years and she had been interested, to a certain extent in its social life as well as many charities in Boston and vicinity. Miss Shelton was prominent in theatrical affairs, having a large acquaintance with professional people, among her intimate friends being Mr. James Murray, his wife, Mrs. Clara Lane Murray and Miss Lillian Lawrence. Her collection of theatrical autographs was one of the most extensive in the country and her pleasant rooms on Park street were full of flowering plants and song birds, for which she had a great love. Her sister Mrs.

Carruth and her two nieces Mrs.
Frances Carruth Prindle of Riverside, Conn., and Miss Edith Carruth of New York survive her. Funeral services were held from the chapel at Mount Auburn cemetery Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace church. There were many relatives and friends present and a profusion of floral tributes. The burial was in the Carruth lot.

IN MEMORIAM

In the death of Miss M. Emma Shelton on Tuesday, Newton loses one of her oldest residents and one who will be deeply mourned by an immense circle of friends.

Miss Shelton's personality was so magnetic and her sympathies so broad that she was greatly beloved by old and young. Her interests were many and wide, bringing her in contact with people all over the country with whom she kept in close touch and to whom her death is an irreparable loss.

As an example of generosity, unfailing cheerfulness and magnificent fortitude in suffering, those who knew her best regard her as unsurpassed and rarely equalled. To have been associated with her, even slightly, was to be inspired to the best in unselfishness, honesty, and happy faith in the good of life.

Henry H. Read has leased Mrs.
Lydia P. Redfield's house, No. 132 Pleasant street, Newton Centre, to D.
Webster King of Somerville.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

Former Newton Man Murdered
By Maniac

The death of Mr. Desire A. Vanderpool, a former well known gardener of Newton last Sunday morning at his home in West Abington was a great shock to his former associates in this city. Mr. Vanderpool was watering the flowers in his garden when he was shot and almost instantly killed by an insane man who had escaped from a New Hampshire asylum.
Mr. Vanderpool was 50 years of age and leaves a widow whom he married when in Newton, and five children, three boys and two girls, the eldest but 13 years of age.

A movement to raise a fund to educate the children has been started this week, the terrible nature of the tragedy, where a man loses his life, without provocation on his part, arousing much sympathy.

Mr. Vanderpool lived in Newton for ten years and was employed to care for many estates in Newton. It is hoped that the response to the appeal for money will be most generous.

Contributions should be sent to Granville R. Farrer, Cashier Abington National Bank.

For outdoor work, whether at home, sea-shore or mountains, there is nothing more pleasant than making pretty things out of brass—a piece of soft wood, a few fasteners, brass and a punch are all that are needed.

You can make many ornamental and useful household things that would cost a good deal bought ready made.

We have patterns and everything else.

Safety For Your Estate

Our method of administering estates and trust funds has not only all the advantages of an individual trusteeship, but other points of superiority that one-man direction cannot have. Sickness, accident or death cannot endanger a trust confided to us, because no one man is responsible for it. Our executive board act together, and are ready for business every business day in the year.

Every investment made, or other important action taken, represents the collective wisdom of a group of men expert in trust management, and their services cost an estate no more than it would pay an individual.

All our securities are officially inspected three times a year. We give bonds equal to twice the amount of the personal property of an estate we administer; and these bonds are backed by a guarantee of $4,500,000. An individual acting as executor or trustee rarely is required to give security.

MOTH WORK

Forest Commissioner Bucknam Has Protected The City

The season is now sufficiently advanced to give some idea of the extraordinary effort which has been made this year to control the ravages of the brown tail and gypsy moths and the elm tree beetle. Until last fall this work, which had been done in a desultory sort of way, had been under the control of the Street Commissioner, and in the nature of things it was impossible for Mr. Ross to give this subject the careful attention it needed, and at the same time supervise the regular work of his department. Mayor Hutchinson, recognizing the situation last year and after careful study and investigation, recommended the establishment of a Forestry Department and immediately appointed as Forest Commissioner, Mr. Charles I. Bucknam of Somerville. Mr. Bucknam was given full charge of the work and an appropriation of $30,000 made for his use the present year. In addition the state aids such municipalities as help themselves and quite a sum has been secured from that quarter. A trip about the city shows that Mr. Bucknam's work has not been in vain, and at the same time, it is possible to realize, from isolated trees, which can be found here and there, what might have happened if the work had not been done. The most noticeable feature is the control the department has secured over the elm tree beetle. This pest had secured a strong foothold all over the city, but the advent of three power sprayers and skilled use of them has nearly eliminated the nuisance. Comparisons with trees on the public streets, which have been sprayed, with those on private estates, which were not treated, give a good idea of what has been accomplished. A splendid illustration is near the corner of Walnut street and Chalkin place, Newtonville, where the city trees are in fine foliage, and those in the immediate neighborhood, unsprayed, are brown and sere. On Woodward and Lincoln streets, Newton Highlands, the beetles were undisturbed and the elm trees here are badly eaten.

The brown tail moths are practically eliminated, and we have not had those nocturnal visitations of white winged moths, about the electric lights as in former years. This is due to the fact that those work was done last winter in destroying their nests. The gypsy moths have been fought at every stage of the game. They are the most persistent and the most destructive. Thousands of trees along and adjacent to the public streets have been burlaped this spring, following a winter's campaign of painting the nests with creosote. The moths have been plentiful enough to give the city men a good battle and have left enough work to keep the department busy next winter. The department has done considerable work on private estates and in many instances has sprayed trees in adjoining lots in order to prevent infection of territory already cleared. This is the case on property on Dudley road, where 50 feet of woodland in Brookline were sprayed in order to protect Newton territory. The Brookline trees are badly eaten right up to the sprayed trees, but the foliage in Newton is as fresh and green as one could wish. The large wood land known as Ward's woods were too extensive to treat as thoroughly as the remainder of the city and Mr. Bucknam allowed the interior to remain without spraying although he protected the trees around the outer edge of the woods. The moths have had a splendid time in these woods, but many of them seeking to enlarge their field of activity encountered the sprayed trees on the circumference and perished. Mr. Bucknam also planted two colonies of parasites in the middle of the woods and they have worked havoc among the caterpillars and pupae. The parasite is a worm about an inch long, of a black and white appearance, mostly white with black lines running about the body. It sucks the life out of the gypsy caterpillar and pupa, leaving nothing but an empty shell.

DR. PATRICK DEAD

Rev. Henry J. Patrick, D. D., for many years the pastor, and now the pastor emeritus of the Second Congregational church of West Newton, died last Friday afternoon at his home, 899 Washington street, Newtonville, following a prolonged illness.

Henry Johnson Patrick, D. D., was born at Warren, Mass., Sept. 20, 1827. His parents were Joseph H. and Mary Patrick.

Dr. Patrick was educated at Amherst Academy, Amherst College, graduating in 1848; Union Theological Seminary, New York; Andover Theological Seminary, Andover, graduating in 1853.

He was ordained to the ministry and installed as pastor of the Congregational Church at Bedford, Mass., Nov. 16, 1854, and during his pastorate he represented the town in the General Court in 1857.

In 1860 he accepted a call to the Second Congregational Church at West Newton and was installed on Sept. 26 of that year.

Dr. Patrick had a long and honorable career as pastor of this church, and when his eyesight failed in 1894 he was chosen its pastor emeritus.

In 1865 Dr. Patrick was a delegate to the Christian Commission at City Point, Va., and in 1891 he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Amherst College.

He married Miss Martha Loomis, and is survived by her and five children, Sarah L., Mary L., Augusta L., Arthur L., and Henry B. Patrick.

Many clergymen and a large number of friends attended the funeral services which were held Monday afternoon in the West Newton Congregational Church. Previous to the church services, members prayers were said at his home in Walnut street, Newtonville.

In the absence of the regular pastor, Rev. J. Edgar Park, the services were conducted by Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of the Central Congregational Church at Newtonville. The music consisted of congregational singing of favorite hymns of Dr. Patrick. In addition J. Elliot Trowbridge, an organist who was associated with Dr. Patrick for fourteen years, played a number of selections.

There were many floral tributes from members of the congregation, brother clergymen and others with whom Dr. Patrick had been associated in his long career. Burial was in the family lot in Newton cemetery. The pallbearers, all of whom were relatives, were Rev. Samuel L. Loomis of Westfield, N. J., Benjamin C. Lane of Roxbury, Elihu G. Loomis and Ralph Loomis of Bedford, Paul Cook of Troy, N. Y., and Dr. Robert Hastings of Brookline.

BOSTON "FLOWER DAY"

Next Tuesday The Boston Journal, with the co-operation of the clergy of Greater Boston, the suburban newspapers, the florists and the good people at large, is to hold a "Flower Day" for the benefit of the poor children of Boston.

Never before has such a mammoth affair of its kind been attempted and the call for co-operation in the project has been answered a thousand-fold more enthusiastically than was ever dreamed of.

With Boston as a common center flowers will be received on Monday morning between the hours of 7 and noon at designated places already established in every city within a radius of twenty miles.

Receiving places will also be in readiness at the terminals of both the Elevated railway and the steam railroads.

Thousands upon thousands of blossoms are needed for the work and it goes without saying that the children who seldom see the gay warm color of the garden and the green of the fields will thrill and marvel at the beauty and fragrance that will pour into the stuffy and unclean streets of the Boston slums on Monday.

Opposite Track 1, South Station.

NORUMBEGA PARK.

Norumbega Park loses none of its charm or its power to attract as the seasons go by; rather, it increases in popularity from season to season, and the same is true from month to month this summer. The average weekly attendance in June kept increasing as the month progressed and the month of July thus far shows a steady gain over June. Altogether it is proving a wonderful season not only in the matter of increasing daily attendances but in the strength of the vaudeville performances which are offered in the open air theatre.

Another big European act will head the vaudeville list next week, and among other strong cards will be: Menetekel, the mysterious writing ball act; Kendall Weston and company; and William Chase in illustrated songs.

REV. HENRY J. PATRICK, D.D.

HENRY J. PATRICK

1827-1909

His eyes were dim toward earthly things
That from distraction free
The glory of the King of Kings
He steadfastly should see.

His ears were dull to earthly sounds
That naught should mar the song
He heard beyond our narrow bounds, Sung by the ransomed throng.

Yet for our need—more blind than he—
His voice of power and grace Still told of love divine and we Read more in his rapt face.

Praise God whose faithful servant wakes
To harmony and light,
And still for us who loved him makes
The way before more bright!

"FLOWER DAY"

The response to the call for "Flowers for Boston's Flower Day" which was observed on Tuesday last was very gratifying.

At the Lincoln Park Baptist church and Deacon Barbour's office nearly 500 bouquets and bunches of flowers were contributed and carried in by Mr. Barbour and Mr. Dower in 75 large boxes—sun flowers nearly 75 from Dr. Palmer's and 10 from Gladys Lucas took the newsboys fancy and they "plucked" several of them before they reached the Journal office from which they were to be distributed.

Besides the sun flowers, the people and nurses at Dr. Palmer's sanitarium sent 120 bouquets. The three Ramee children and Earle Dow contributed 20, while the little Glover twins made up 25 more. Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. J. Wilder Smith of Hillside avenue contributed 300, Eljah Wood sent nearly 200 pinks, Helen Dower and her friends 30 bouquets, Mr. G. W. Marsh, a basket full, Miss Nowers and others a lot more. Everybody seemed delighted to aid in the work of carrying cheer and happiness into the hearts of Boston's poor and "shut-ins." It was a busy as well as a happy day at the Boston Journal's office where a score or more of people were sorting and preparing the flowers for distribution.

As one gentleman looking on said, "Well, it shows that there are still many good people in the world."

ALFRED L. BARBOUR.

MRS. BESANT COMING

Mrs. Annie Besant, President of the Theosophical Society, Christian devotee and mystic, Vicar's wife, tenderer of mothers, atheist and free-thinker, Socialist and since 1889 Theosophist—these are the landmarks along her pilgrimage of Truth.

"Through storm to Peace," is how she describes her journey. She expounds the oldest philosophy in the world, that appeals to heart, mind and intuition.

It is not necessary for you to believe what she says; but you will be wise if you will accept this opportunity to hear the finest orator now living. You will hear of the purest philanthropy and loftiest idealism in perfect and melodious words, and when you go away you will feel you have received a benediction. Mrs. Besant is to lecture in Boston at an early date.

NORUMBEGA PARK.

All those who saw the capital musical comedy, "In Mexico," in the open air theatre at Norumbega Park a few weeks ago will appreciate what is in store for them when it is said that next week's attraction will be another musical comedy, by Matt Ott, the same author, entitled "The Brinkley Girl," and those who have seen both say that "The Brinkley Girl" is about twice as good.

"The Brinkley Girl" is just another of those Matt Ott concoctions which he knows so well how to construct specially for outdoor audiences at the summer parks. Ott is a musical comedy tailor who has the correct measurements of the summer park theatre-going audiences, and in "The Brinkley Girl" he happens to have made the best fit yet—that's all.

NEWTON TRUST COMPANY

Since the organization of the Newton Trust Company (now Newton Trust Company) in 1894, its directors have always endeavored to conduct its affairs in such a manner as to entitle it to the full confidence and approval of every patron, that it might become a benefit and credit to the City of Newton.

The result of this policy has been a steady, healthy, and never-ceasing growth, until at present the Newton Trust Company is the largest and strongest banking institution in the suburbs of Boston.

—Mrs. Sarah Cushing Bemis, widow of the late Thomas W. Bemis, and a well known resident of this place, passed away Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry W. Robinson, on Lexington street. She was in her 91st year. Private services were held from the family residence and the remains were taken to Randolph for burial.

—Wellesley made it two out of three in the series with Auburndale by taking the decisive game Saturday, July 24th, at Wellesley, by the score of 3-2. The game was closely fought throughout. Auburndale in the lead for the greater distance. Calder's single in the 7th with the bases full, scoring 2 runs, won the game and the series for the home team. Harper who pitched for Wellesley allowed 1 hit but was generous with passes. Murray played well for the visitors.

—A horse attached to a delivery wagon owned by the C. & W. Ice cream company of Cambridge became frightened at a passing motor cycle at Auburndale early Wednesday evening and ran away. The driver gave chase, but the horse broke away from the wagon and the driver was unable to catch the animal. The horse went through Commonwealth avenue and made a circuit of several other streets finally being caught by Patrolman Foristall on Temple street West Newton. The wagon was considerably damaged.

MINING IN COLOMBIA

Interesting Letter From Mr. F. S. Webster

Volombo, Rep. of Columbia, S. A., June 25, 1909.
 Nearly in the center of the Province of Antioquia, in the Republic of Columbia, S. A., perched on the crest of a mountain ridge one hundred feet above and overlooking a beautiful level plain or river valley, thirty-five hundred feet above the sea, with a swift flowing river in the background, winding along the base of mountains rising to height of six thousand feet, with other mountains rising on all sides, is the mining camp of an American company. Here we have made our headquarters for more than six weeks investigating the resources of this wonderful country.

The Province of Antioquia is the richest in gold, although it is found in paying quantities in nearly every province of Columbia. From Medellin alone, the capital of the province, from half a million to a million and a half dollars in dust and bar are shipped every month. For a mining country the equal to this could hardly be found. While it has its unhealthy sections, at the same time some of the best mines in the country are in very healthy localities, and work can be carried on nearly every day in the year. In the States there are very few sections where mining can be carried on for more than a few months in the year on account of the extreme cold of the winters.

Another great factor here, which is a decided advantage, is the abundance of pure water and the question of provisions. Necessities in the line of provisions, and many luxuries, are to be obtained in abundance, and at prices much lower than in the mining sections of the States. Good chicken or fowl can be bought for from thirty-five to fifty cents each. Eggs at twenty-four per dozen. Beef for twelve cents per pound. Pork for fifteen, bananas twenty-five to thirty-five per bunch, large pine-apples three to five cents each, and good oranges for five and six cents per dozen. Green corn can be bought the year round for five cents per dozen, and there are great varieties of other native fruits and vegetables that can be bought equally low in their seasons. Good milk can be obtained in most sections for five cents per quart, and good coffee and cocoa at fifteen cents per pound retail. Fish abound in all streams. White potatoes, flour, butter and cheese, cost about double what they do in the eastern states.

While native alcohol sells for two dollars per gallon, and other native liquors in proportion, imported whiskey or brandy sells at from eight to ten dollars per quart, and champagne for sixteen. With plenty of pure water all around, however, there is not much need for the latter, except when some one has an undeveloped mine to sell, which being always "muy rica" (very rich) sometimes requires rich vendors to effect the sale. Fuel can be obtained in most sections for one-half cent per cord and the labor of cutting, while large trees for timber, from which twelve to thirty-six inch boards can be sawed, in many cases from fifty to sixty feet from the ground up, sell for eight cents each.

Of course the cost of clothing in a climate like this is hardly to be considered. Labor is very plentiful and cheap. Twenty-five cents per day with board, and fifty cents without. Skilled labor such as carpenter, smiths, etc., eighty cents per day with board. One hundred and fifty dollars buys an extra good mule, and one hundred and twenty-five dollars is a fair price for a good saddle horse. At this elevation at mid-day the maximum temperature is about 90 degrees in the shade and just before dawn drops to about 65 degrees, making blankets necessary for comfort. Quartz mining I believe to be about the same kind of a gamble here that it is in the States and Northwest. One may strike a vein and think he has a good thing; begin operations, get power and stamp mill, and within a few hours after starting up, have the vein run out. Then again a vein may yield thousands of dollars. While the majority of native miners make good as far as their needs require in the kind of mining, at the same time large strikes are the exception to the rule. The "mother lode" is as illusive here as elsewhere. One important fact, however, should be borne in mind; the most reliable information obtainable, I do not think there are five mines in the whole country that have been sunk two hundred feet in depth. At the head of one valley that I have visited, in the sides of the mountains, are several hundred openings, only one of which has been tunnelled to any depth, while the majority are little more than holes. All the quartz has been carried out on the backs of men, for there are not even passable mule trails.

Even with the crude methods employed the results have been satisfactory and there is no doubt but that with a little Yankee energy and capital the results would surprise the natives. There is a six hundred feet fall of water here that might be utilized at an expense of only a few thousand dollars, of which not a drop is used except for drinking purposes. The river draining the valley carries considerable gold of good quality which proves that the supply is there. This suggests the subject of "Placer mining" in which there is a reasonable element of success. The placer mines along this river and tributaries, at least for a distance of more than one hundred miles, are quite different from those of Oroville, Cal., or Alaska, owing to the fact that here the mountain ranges crowd so close together on either side of the river that it leaves but little room for it to change its course, while in the States and Northwest where the greater part of the placers are worked the valleys are in many cases, miles in extent, and dredges have to be worked over large areas with an average of less than ten cent value to the cubic yard of dirt. Even at this value large dividends are paid in spite of the short season, usually less than one hundred working days in the year.

The fact that bridges have been washed away during the last month that have been built for more than forty years goes to show that this rainy season has been something phenomenal. At this point the river has been higher than the oldest native resident has ever seen, still there has been less than a week that a dredge could not be worked in this place. All of the plays are not so favorably situated owing to their outlets being too narrow to carry off the water and many mines both up and down the river, working with old fashioned appliances, water-wheels and cane pumps, have been drowned out and will have to undergo quite an expense to get started again.

One man operating a small mine a few miles up the river was fortunate enough to have made a "clean-up" the day before the freshest struck his place and took out a little over four and one-half pounds of gold, value about $1,200.00. (A "clean-up" is the final washing of the dirt left in the bottom of the pit or hole when the bed-rock has been reached after working down the section being taken from the hole.) The next day his mine was under water and it will take him weeks to clear it even if the river has not so changed its course that he cannot work the old hole again. He has nothing but cane pumps (bambo trees with wooden plungers) to free the mine of the water. As this is his first serious setback and the mine has yielded $200,000.00 from one hole less than three hundred feet square by from twenty-five to twenty-eight feet deep and from this hole that he is at present working he has taken more than 1,000 pounds valued at about $250.00 per pound at a total cost of less than $20,000.00 he can well afford to lose the entire season.

Many of the placer mines have proved sinking funds for the capitalists in the States or elsewhere who have depended on others to prospect or operate them or who have gone into the business, hit or miss. Some have paid large sums for plays, have sent down expensive experts? (the question mark is not for the expense part) and machinery, wholly unsuited for the kind of work necessary to be done, and I suppose are causing at mining and Columbia in particular, when the fault is entirely their own, either by not giving personal supervision or by not having reliable and practical representatives on the ground.

To illustrate the unreliability of some of the reports submitted to capitalists by experts? whom they have sent down here as well as their slight regard for expense, the following will suffice although it by no means covers all the authentic cases that have come to my knowledge. Options were purchased on the Rivers Nechi and lower Porco for a number of miles and an engineer was sent out to investigate and report on the resources as regards timber, etc., that would be required for dredge building. His report stated that he had started in at Zaragosa and travelled up the river to Medellin, a distance of fully four hundred miles, and that he could not find a tree that would cut a ten inch board. One day in riding less than fifteen miles along this same course I counted over fifty trees of good timber that would cut thirty inch boards or more and that for sixty feet up from the ground.

A couple of so called experts were sent to prospect some mines on the Cauca River. There being only one boat each month running up this river from Barranquilla, they thought it would be a very convenient arrangement to bring along a naphtha launch so they could travel when they pleased. When they were ready to start the authorities refused to allow them to navigate without a river pilot and licensed engineer. By the time they finally got off, more time had been consumed than would have been required to have waited for two boats. Matters went fairly smooth while ascending the Magdalena river but the silt and floating debris in the Cauca river choked their propeller. To state that with the mosquitoes and other pests they had a time of it that fairly out-did the kind of a time the monkeys and parrots were having on the river bank, would be drawing it mild. Arriving at their destination they drilled two holes on tracts of land aggregating twenty-five to thirty thousand acres and returned to the States with a statement that it was useless to spend more money and time in prospecting, that everywhere they had drilled they found gold of fine quality, and that all that was now needed was developing. Incidentally they brought their expense account which including the cost of the samples they bought amounted to over $9,000.00. Their launch had cost in the States $3,000.00 and after its one cruise is now in Barranquilla offered for sale for $1,000.00. Gasoline at that time cost $1.50 per gallon, their pilot $150.00 per month and board, engineer $100.00 with the usual expense for a retinue of servants customary in this country added, and no developing has been done yet.

One man came to Columbia, in his own interests, with no lack of capital, and having read of a city wall at Cartagena that had been built at a cost of many millions during the Spanish regime to protect the gold shipments, landed there expecting to find mines in abundance. He found the wall all right for it was built to a new hole. This same mine according to records in Medellin, had produced $200,000.00 in two years under another manager who was then in the States.

One rather interesting case was told me which proves that only on reliable information is it safe to invest in mining here or elsewhere.

A company was formed in the States for the purpose of buying and operating what was represented to be one of the richest undeveloped mines in the country. One of the largest stock holders was an ex mayor of one of our important eastern cities, who lost $65,000.00. Another was a Judge who lost $45,000.00.

In this case no prospecting was actually done. A railroad contractor's shovel was purchased which my informant told me the manufacturer's price of would not exceed $4,000.00 and a kind of washing machine was built on the mine, which must have been invented for this particular place with the idea of having it cost those putting up the money the highest possible figure or of stringing out the job of those interested, together with an engine and boiler and some small tools. These with large quantities of supplies constituted the outfit.

The shovel and washing-machine were erected on opposite sides of a ridge, and in order to get the dirt from the shovel to the washer it was deemed necessary to cut through the ridge for a distance of five or six hundred feet.

One of the chief factors in getting rid of money was the salary list. The general superintendent drew a salary of $600.00 per month and when in this country at all resided in Barranquilla three hundred and seventy-five miles from the base of operations. But he made twenty-seven trips to the States at the expense of the company presumably to purchase supplies, but actually to assure the stockholders that a good thing was coming along later, and to keep up enthusiasm.

The assistant superintendent at the mine drew $400.00, his son the second assistant superintendent $150.00, his son-in-law the master mechanic $150.00, the mechanic, also of the family, $100.00, chief carpenter, another member, $75.00, working carpenter $40.00, blacksmith $60.00, helper $40.00 and store-keeper $40.00. Besides these regular salaries officials there were the cooks, three watchmen, and not less than fifteen servants to cut wood, bring water, wait on table, etc. All were boarded, and those from the States had all expenses paid.

Eventually all the paid in capital amounting to over half a million dollars was used up and the stockholders balked. A few who wished to carry on the scheme tried to interest a party whom they knew was in a position to influence capital by offering him $20,000.00 provided he would raise $200,000.00, representing to him that they had dredges and other equipment at work and that the mine was just beginning to produce at the rate of $18,000.00 to $20,000.00 per month.

He was not one of the kind of men to make money out of friends without their getting a fair return, so telling his people frankly of the offer, it was agreed that he should come here at his own expense and investigate and if he found the mine could be made to pay by putting up the additional $200,000.00, his friends agreed to put up the money and he was to have his commission. Fortunately for his friends he proved to be one that believed nothing that he could not see, so the first thing he put up to the people here was the fact that he "came from Missouri" and would have to be shown.

On trying to start up the machinery for him it simply proved a try. Nothing was in running order, even the belt being so rotten that it broke with no load on the engine whatever.

The washing machine proved to have never been started up, some of the cables and pulleys for carrying the same never having been put on, and of course no dredges were found.

Further investigation revealed the fact that only a total of about two pounds of gold had been taken from the property and that by hand work.

As an example of both sides of the question in the same mine. At a point about fifteen miles up the river from here it is a fact substantiated by records at the banks of Medellin that $92,000.00 was taken from a hole less than sixty by eighty feet square, by thirty feet deep, or less than five thousand, three hundred cubic yards. That the entire sum was swamped in expenses besides local debts were contracted for more than $25,000.00.

Last November a young man from the States, with no previous experience in mining, but with just ordinary common sense, coupled with good judgment and a disposition to work, was put in charge. On May 1st he had paid off all indebtedness and I met him on his way out with his last "clean-up" of over $7,500.00 found for the States to make permanent arrangements with the owners.

Within a short distance of this mine is a playa, the development of which will be watched with considerable interest, it being the only mine in the country, to the best of my knowledge that has been thoroughly prospected. The playa consists of about one hundred and twenty-five acres, and was prospected by drilling one hundred and twelve holes to rock bottom which was struck at an average depth of twenty-six feet, six inches.

While the average for the entire playa shows 67c. per cubic yard, several of the drillings show over $5.00 while two made a showing of over $10.00. Some of course show little or nothing.

The owners are setting up their dredge at the present time and expect to reap a rich harvest. They have that faith in their mine that neither of the owners will sell a share of stock.

While without capital, the chances for succeeding (except possibly in quartz mining where the few lucky strikes are always told of and remembered while the many failures are seldom heard of) appear to be very slim in this country for gold mining, with the judicious investment of capital in placer mining and with proper management such as is required by any successful business enterprise, there appears to be very little chance for failure.

That capital is perfectly safe here can be no better illustrated than by the fact that the entire gold shipped from Medellin to the coast, is carried to Sofia, a distance of seventy miles over rough mountain trails on the backs of mules, with no other guard than the two drivers, one being armed with a machete only, (a large knife carried by all peons on trails) and the other with two revolvers.

Each of the two houses engaged in shipping the gold to the coast make monthly shipments in this manner. Americans seem to have an idea that Columbia is always in a state of revolution and that life and property are unsafe. Such is not the case by any means. While there is an occasional revolution, property is never disturbed except in the case of food products, and whenever losses have occurred by confiscation they have always been made good by the government.

"PARAGON PARK"

The centre of summer gaiety seems to be Paragon Park and the Palm Garden. It has become a good deal of a fad now, if a little trip for the evening is to be taken, to run down to the Palm Garden for dinner while enjoying the electrical illumination, band concert, the singing of Johnny Maguire and the Paragon Quartet, with an hour or two to spare for witnessing the acts in the two ring free open air circus and taking in some of the feature attractions such as "The Spray of Life," Human Roulette, Wheel, Monkeyland and the Juggle, Dance Pavilion, Vaudeville Show, Roller Coaster, Beauty Show, Tub of Fun and Incubators, Circle Swing, Diamond Lew's Wild West moving pictures, etc.

It is no unusual sight to find a hundred or more special automobile parties from Boston for the evening, which usually begins, and ends, just before the departure for home, in the Palm Garden. This rapidly increasing automobile trade has prompted Manager Dodge to convert one of his buildings into an auto entrance, gate and enclosure, providing free parking privilege for all automobiling patrons of the park.

But while the automobilists are visiting the Park in hundreds, those who go by boat and enjoy the sail down the harbor, on the way to visit Paragon, and those of the South Shore residents who congregate there regularly in the afternoon or evening, are there by the thousands. In fact Paragon Park and the Palm Garden have taken their places quite firmly this summer as the grand rendezvous for folks in the better walks of life who want an afternoon or evening now and then in the whirl of summer merry-making.

Manager Dodge has everything so arranged and running in such shape that a patron may spend as little or as much as he wishes, but he has looked out for it that the man who may wish to spend no more than his admission fee has his hands full taking in all the free attractions that are provided. There will be another big free fireworks display next Saturday night.

The next legislature is evidently of interest to many in city, possibly because of probable action on the income tax amendment to the constitution, possibly because whoever is chosen this fall will undoubtedly be a member of the succeeding legislature which will choose a successor to Senator Lodge—and that's a story by itself. Besides ex mayor Bothfield and ex alderman Ellis, who will undoubtedly be selected by reason of their superior training and experience in city affairs, there are three other candidates, Alderman White, the sole candidate from the south side of the city, Mr. George Royal Pulsifer and ex alderman Reuben Forknall. These gentlemen will probably fight it out for the third place, also the lists are by no means closed at this early date.

Newton in summer is nearly deserted—its houses closed and business dead. The Boston Globe had an article this week relative to Newton and calling particular attention to its desirable as a summer resort. The idea has evidently never struck the Newton resident in just that light and it remained for an outsider to tell us something about our own home.

The news from Washington that Congressman Weeks will probably be selected as chairman of the House Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, is another straw showing the position Mr. Weeks has made for himself in the short time he has been in Washington. This committee is one of the most important in the capitol.

VANDERPOOLE FUND

Desire Vanderpoole, formerly a gardener at Newton, and latterly a frugal, industrious market farmer at Abington, Mass., where he had recently settled with his wife and young children, was shot to death in his own yard, in the presence of his family, by a lunatic recently escaped from an asylum in New Hampshire. Friends of this unfortunate family know that the situation is one that ought to appeal to all well disposed and generous people, and for the purpose of securing a fund to relieve the pressing needs and to educate the five small children, the undersigned ask for contributions of money, which will be duly acknowledged in the public press.

YOUNG LAD DEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Chapman have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their only son, Raymond S. Chapman, who died at their home in Newton Centre, aged 14 years. Death was due to tuberculosis after a sickness of five months, only those who knew him knew what a dear, loving boy he was, and who mourn his loss so deeply, we say, "Thy will, dear Lord, be done," he has two sisters who mourn for him, one Clara, now Mrs. J. Cook of Chicopee, Cal., and Bertha, now Mrs. Geo. James of Newtonville. Many beautiful flowers were draped around the casket.
He was born in Watertown and attended the Newton Baptist Sunday school and the Bigelow and Stearns schools of Newton, and was well liked among all his playmates.

BASE BALL LEAGUE

a boys' base ball league formed of teams aged 15 years or under from Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Newton, Newtonville and Thompson-games will be played on the Newton Centre playground during August.

Balls will be furnished by the Newton Centre Playground Committee and individual prizes awarded the winning

The coming educational science is psycho-physics, which treats of the human being from the three-fold standpoint of psychology, physiology and sociology.

The term psycho-physics means the union of these three sciences under one head. It means the science of living, and regards all education as the development of the human consciousness towards the realization of the three aspects of life: truth, moral responsibility and liberty.

The three cardinal principles of psycho-physics are the ideals of harmony, equality and co-operation.

These principles distinctly point towards the equal consideration of the individual rights of men and women in the affairs of life, the individual responsibility of every person for every thought, feeling and act of their lives, and the motives that govern them. It means that both men and women should be taught to work together for the common good of all, each receiving a rightful equivalent for their labor in whatever field their natural qualifications may lead them to enter.

These principles tell us that we should lift up rather than degrade our fellow beings; to build the social fabric rather than destroy it.

Instead of fighting for supremacy and wasting nervous energy in the wrong channels of self-aggrandizement, we should co-operate for the good of the family, the community and the nation.

The idealistic conditions resulting from a strict adherence to these principles cannot be brought about all at once, but the trend of true national development should be regarded as heading that way, and corresponding educational standards set up that will make for the welfare, health and happiness of the coming generations.

It is strictly within the province of the school and college to regulate their systems of instruction along the lines of civic progress, and to instill these principles into the lives of our youth who are to represent the citizenship of the future.

There should be harmony, equality and co-operation among both teachers and students, between all intelligent members of society and between the nations civil and business interests.

These principles apply to the individual as well as to the group. In the individual, they teach the development of the mind, the soul and the body upon an equal basis, upon a cooperative basis and a harmonious basis. All studies should be so presented to the mental, imaginative and executive energies of our youth, so that when they enter the arena of experience, all their faculties are trained to act in unison and to cope successfully with the various exigencies of life.

At present, we lack the requisite methods for this three-fold development in the schools and colleges; but the most essential thing is to know what is needed. The process of arriving at a desired end in such a wide field as education must necessarily be the work of many minds. It is here that the principle of co-operation is felt the keenest.

Educators, to do broad work, must also work in harmony, and they must accord to each other equal consideration as to liberty of opinion as to the right methods, a condition which is inevitable from differing points of view. The results in practical education, however, may be safely dependent on to show the efficacy of any definite line of educational work.

Let us all work in harmony to bring about the best results in education in the name of liberty, truth and justice.

But, above all, let us work.

"GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT"

The members of the Tremellbam Club held their "Gentlemen's Night" last Friday evening, at the home of Miss Christina Macdonald, 20 Thorston street. The house was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns and potted plants. During the evening refreshments were served and games played. The members of the club are Misses Rita and Mae Nagle, Agnes McLaughlin, Marguerita, Evelyn and Frances Whelan, Christina and Lillian Macdonald, Louise and Blanche Nor-beck.

AMERICAN BARN DANCE

The American barn dance, now one of the leading novelties of the London ball rooms, has been introduced in this country. Several society women started the community with "S. R.
Henry's Barn Dance," to which they dressed the figures of the Virginia reel and the hoe-down. Since then the band and orchestras have taken up the craze.

The method in which the dance is interpreted is that of six couples who swing their partners to a central point, then waltz back to an angle formed by the first retreating couple, who, in turn, exchange partners. The following strains indicate the musical theme to which this is done:

The dance proper occupies increased interest. It is wrought to a climax in which the couples sing as they dance. For this purpose a set of words called "Down at the Huskin' Bee" are invoked. The following bars of Mr. Henry's barn dance are utilized:

To this melody the text runs as follows:

"Come along and let's make merry down at the huskin' bee, Applejack and good blackberry, we'll have a jubilee," etc.

POPULAR NORTHERN RESORTS

Green Mountains, Montreal, Thousand Islands Easily Reached

The direct route from Boston to the Green Mountains of Vermont, Lake Champlain, Anseble Chasms, Montreal, Thousand Islands, and other St. Lawrence River resorts is via the Central Vermont Railway, "Green Mountain route."

A great variety of tours over this line has been arranged for the season, and tourists who wish to be intelligently informed concerning the resorts and points of interest in this section should send six cents in stamps to the Central Vermont railway, 360 Washington St., Boston, for "Summer Homes," a handsomely illustrated book of nearly 150 pages.
Other literature free on personal application.

CONVENTION OF ORGANISTS

Fully two thousand organists from the United States and Canada will attend the National Convention of Organists to be held at Ocean Grove, N. J., during the first two weeks of August. A new Hope-Jones organ, the largest in the world, has recently been installed in the great Auditorium, which seats ten thousand people. A brilliant program has been prepared for the ten days, which includes organ recitals by eminent men, concerts by Mme. Schumann-Heink, David Blapham, and other great artists. Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be given by a chorus of seven hundred voices under the leadership of Tall Esen Morgan, the director of music at Ocean Grove. A concert will be given by a chorus of one thousand children. There will be lectures, papers and discussions each day and on the last evening a banquet will be given in the Young People's Temple.

Ocean Grove is on the Atlantic coast, fifty miles below New York, and adjoins the city of Asbury Park.
There are over five hundred hotels and boarding houses and the towns are provided with all modern conveniences. Special summer excursion rates are offered by the railroads.

The Convention will inaugurate a National movement for Town Halls with orchestral organs, so that the people can hear the best music at a nominal cost.

Everybody should see the beautiful display of new Gas and Electric Table Lamps, with new Amboy Art Glass, as shown by McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin, corner Congress St., Boston.

These lamps make beautiful seashore adornments and wedding gifts.

POLICE

Gilbert Chapin, aged 25, living on St. James avenue, Springfield, was convicted in court Wednesday of operating an automobile in Newton without a license, and was fined $15. Patrolman Coady testified that he overhauled Chapin on Commonwealth avenue early Tuesday evening, when the latter was running a machine without lights. Chapin told the policeman that he had a license in a trunk strapped to the rear of the machine, but the "license" proved to be an out of date chauffeur's badge. The police say Chapin last had a chauffeur's license two years ago. The machine which he was driving last evening, he said, was his own. It carried the registered number of a Springfield garage.

George H. Bowman, 52, of 44 Highland avenue, Newtonville, was arraigned in court Wednesday on a charge of assault and battery upon Mrs. Alice Young, a neighbor, during an altercation last evening which resulted from a dispute over keeping a small bench on the piazza of the double house occupied by both families.
Mrs. Young testified that when she moved the bench away from near her door, Bowman objected and during the altercation which ensued she was struck twice on the head and twice in the face. Judge Kennedy instructed both families to come to an understanding regarding the location of the bench, through the owner of the dwelling if necessary, and then imposed a fine of $5 upon Bowman.

While the police were organizing a searching party Tuesday to hunt the woods in this city for Dennis O'Brien, 45 years old, who had been missing from his home at 45 Beecher terrace since July 19, O'Brien walked into his own home as unexpectedly as he had disappeared a week previously. He did not tell where he had been sojourning. He had been last seen going into woods in this city a week ago, and when he did not return after a few days his family became alarmed and yesterday appealed to the police. Police stations and hospitals without a radius of a considerable number of miles of this city were called up by telephone, but no trace of the man was found.

Patrick M. Hennessy of 38 Clarendon avenue, this city, against whom a case charging drunkenness was continued in court until Wednesday was placed on probation until Dec. 4. It was testified that he went into a shed near a new house on Grove Hill avenue, Newtonville, and carried away a chest of tools. Hennessy said he had been working there and that the tools were his own. Chief Mitchell made a further investigation, reporting that the tools did belong to the prisoner.

CITY HALL

A number of city officials of Pawtucket called at city hall this week and made a sight seeing trip about this city. They said they were particularly impressed with the excellent streets, and were much interested in the dust laying work.

The street department will close Commonwealth avenue south roadway, between Hammond street and Lake street, for nearly a week after resurfacing work is completed. The thoroughfare runs at a considerable grade between these points, and it will be closed in order that the new material may harden before automobiles begin passing over it in large numbers again. With the completion of this section of the work the entire south roadway from Weston bridge to Lake street will have been put in excellent condition, and will be dustless as well.

Mayor Hutchinson spent a half hour in the police court Thursday morning, and listened with much interest to the proceedings.

The first of a number of sanitary drinking fountains requiring no cups, which Mayor Hutchinson is to have installed in several of the parks and squares throughout the city, was placed in position by the forestry department Tuesday on Clafin field, conveniently near the baseball, football and tennis grounds. The mayor has recommended similar fountains for Allison park at Nonantum, Newton Centre playground and Cabot park, and to-day gave instructions for large fountains of similar character near city hall at West Newton, at Newton-ville square, one at Nonantum, another at Nonantum square, near the bank building, and at Newton Highlands square.

GAMEWELL OUTING

The Gamewell Fire Alarm and Telegraph Company gave their annual outing to the employees on Saturday.
The trip included a sail on the Nantasket boat to Pemberton, where all got off, and through the courtesy of the officials, paid a visit to Fort Revere, where the workings of the fort were explained and several of the guns discharged. After leaving the fort they went direct to Nantasket and enjoyed a shore dinner. In the afternoon arrangements had been made for either a trip to Hingham, admission to Paragon park or to witness a ball game. Tickets were good on either of the boats and a majority of the party stayed until the last boat to witness the fireworks at the park, which, to use one member's expression, "beats a fireman's muster all hollow." The committee in charge were Leonard Dawson, chairman; A.
G. Colburn, secretary; F. I. Sewall,
T. P. Pratt and H. N. Keith.

MAN DROWNED

The body of a man, later identified as that of Charles Miller, 45 years old of Chandler street, Newton, was found floating in the Charles river near the North Beacon street bridge, Brighton, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.
John J. Shea, Gerard Campbell and Thomas F. McDonough, all of Somerville, who were out canoeing, discovered the body.

The body had evidently been in the water some days. Held tightly in each hand of the dead man was a large clump of grass, which the man had clutched after he had fallen into the river.

Miller was employed for 16 years by John Buckley on the Brighton ab-batoir grounds. He complained Monday of pains in his head which had affected his sight, and upon the advice of his employer he left off work at 12 and started for his home about 1 o'clock. In the morning he had put on by mistake a pair of rubber boots belonging to another employee, the result of his impaired vision.

His associates at the abbatoir believe that Miller started to take a short cut across a field to take a car for Newton and that he walked too near the river bank and fell in the water.

Nothing had been seen of Miller after the time he left his work Monday. He did not appear at his home in Newton and Wednesday his brother James called at Buckley's with a view to finding out where he was.
Miller was unmarried and is highly spoken of by his employer. He was a steady and industrious man and well liked by his fellow employees.

THEATRES

Orpheum Theatre—By special arrangement with Israel Zangwill Mr. Lindsay Morison will present at the Orpheum Theatre next week Eleanor Robson's greatest success "Merely Mary Ann." While Miss Robson's wonderful work as a London slavey had a great deal to do with the success of this play yet the play itself has such inherent merit that it might also be said to have contributed largely to Miss Robson's success. At any rate it is conceded to be the best thing that Mr. Zangwill has ever written. It tells a story of a London slavey who falls in love with a handsome musician who is stopping at the lodging house where she works. The course of love runs by no means smoothly, but all ends happily when it turns out that the slavey is an heiress. The last time "Merely Mary Ann" played in Boston was when Miss Robson presented it for a short engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre. During this engagement the orchestra was placed under the stage at every performance despite the fact that prices ranged as high as two dollars a seat. Mr. Morison considers himself extremely fortunate in being able to procure this clever play and the fact that it is the highest royalty piece for several seasons and that many difficulties were in the way of presenting it, is simple proof that Mr. Morison is determined to give his patrons the very best that money and an excellent company can accomplish. The scenic effects will be correct in every detail and fully equal to those of the original production.

Keith's Theatre—The public is certainly getting its money's worth at Keith's Theatre these days, for not only is the vaudeville the strongest that could possibly be secured, but in addition, the Fadettes, augmented to forty, are giving a popular concert preliminary to the regular show. Next week there is an attraction that is bound to cause a lot of comment. It is called "A Night in a Monkey Music Hall." It was brought to this country especially for the Keith circuit, and for the last few months has been the biggest kind of a sensation on the Hammerstein Roof Garden in New York. One of the largest monkey companies ever brought together, and all of them trained to give an entire performance, without any humans on the stage, they have a stage on a stage, something after the manner of "A Night in an English Music Hall," with a monkey orchestra, and a leader who is as great in personality as Souza and makes all kinds of fun. There are monkey card boys who appear between the acts and a number of star features in the vaudeville section, including a monkey heavy weight lifter, a trapeze performer, a juggler, a clown and a number of others, all of which are amusing. On this same bill will be two of the greatest local favorites, J. K. Murray and Clara Lane, who will present one of their unique entertainments. Raymond and Caverly, those riotous German comedians are also on the bill. Howard Truesdell & Co. have a new sketch entitled "A Corner in Hair," said to be one of the funniest written in recent years. Phil Staats is an entertainer with piano specialties and Robert de Monte Trio are comedy acrobats of the first order. Another feature will be the dancing of Burt Jordan.

THOUSANDS AT WONDERLAND

Evidently many thousands of New Englanders, particularly the residents of the Greater Boston, have got the Wonderland habit and pronounce it good. One can be almost certain to find friends any evening strolling along the great board walk under the beautiful brilliancy of Wonderland's many thousands of electric lights while enjoying the fine concerts by Teel's Military Band of Boston. Upon all sides can be found attractions of the highest character and certain to please all kinds of tastes in the young or old. Every day now, at 3.30 o'clock promptly, is given an extra performance of the dainty fairy spectacle "Cinderella," in which a fine company of fifty young and pretty girls appear. The principal characters are Irene Martin as Cinderella, Lulu Strater as the Prince, Blanche Benton and Margaret Mederith as the two jealous sisters. Lottie Leslie as Circe, Anna Kiley as Queen of the fairies and Etta Peyser as the chief page. They are splendidly supported by the big aggregation of chorus girls whose singing, marching, groupings and dancing are of the most captivating sort. The 3.30 performance gives splendid opportunity for ladies and children, who cannot remain for the evening, to see what has well been called the "most beautiful outdoor spectacle ever presented in America." There have been two changes made recently in the cast of "The Prophet and the Princess," which have greatly improved the production. Miss Pauline A. Harlow, who plays the part of the Princess of Galilee, popularly known as Salome, now appears in a magnificent gown of black silk so heavily burdened with silver ornaments and great Rhine stones, that she has to discard it instantly at the dropping of the curtains. This new gown weighs thirty pounds and is of exquisite design. It adds most effectively to the realism of Miss Harlow's captivating Terpsichorean divinement. Every week sees a complete new bill in the vaudeville theatre, many changes in the girl minstrels, new groupings by Breng's artists' models, (The Golden Graces) new films and new illustrated songs in the moving picture theatre and new concert programs by Teel's Band. About every visitor to Wonderland rides on the Scenic Railway or the Chutes or takes a trip to Hell Gate. Many hundreds dance in the ball room and the great dining hall is splendidly patronized by thousands who can appreciate a fine fish dinner or a duty lunch. Children accompanied by adults are admitted free, to Wonderland now-a-days, up to six o'clock.

The Boston Elevated gives nearly $3000 yearly to this association towards paying the running expenses. It has 3500 members and every sick member is paid $7 a week for 10 weeks; $1000 is given at death. It costs 50c. a month to become a member and it pays an average of $300 a week for sick benefits. In 10 years it has paid death claims of $35,000.

The Boston Elevated Mutual Aid association pay a sick and accident benefit to the men and costs $6 a year for membership. For a sick benefit it pays a dollar a day till $84 is reached. It has 2600 members. It pays $100 at death. A. P. Stowell is president and W. P. French is secretary.

The Mutual Benefit association, division 3, is for aiding the sick and injured of this division. President, William Leahy, and secretary, W. L. Binford.

There are many professional men who have come from the ranks of the employees of the Boston Elevated. Every opportunity is given them for advancement. One example of a self-made man in the service is that of W. P. French, secretary of the Boston Elevated Mutual Aid association. He is conductor on the West Somerville route and a full-fledged attorney besides.

French began the study of law evenings after his work was done for the day. Then he began to attend the Y. M. C. A. law school. He recently became a trustee of the Boston Mutual Aid association.

The company gives law service to their employees free in the way of consultation and advice. In this way many litigation cases which would cost the men many dollars of hard-earned money is saved.

No money sharks are allowed to lightly trustee the wages of the employees of the Boston Elevated company. If a man is found to be in need of financial help and the company knows of it, he is often loaned money without interest, to tide him over a hard place. In every case when a man has been found to be borrowing money the company asks his confidence, and does not allow any one to suffer while in its employ.

The company has about 8000 employees; it has about 3500 cars. Last year 273,132,584 passengers were carried.—Boston Globe.

NEWS OF THE MOODY CONFERENCE AT NORTHFIELD

East Northfield, Mass., July 25.

Two conferences ending last week, two now in session and the General Conference convening the end of this week indicate that Northfield is having as full a program as usual. The purpose of influencing all classes of Christian effort is well carried out in gatherings for college men, young women, women interested in home and foreign missions and Sunday School teachers. The two conferences now meeting here have over 500 delegates and are teaching the newest methods in Sunday School work and for arousing interest in foreign missions. Both these gatherings are inter-denominational and the Missionary Conference includes delegates from Canada.

On Saturday the General Conference for Christian Workers will convene for its fifteen days' session. Noted speakers from America and England are expected, including Dr. Len G. Broughton, of Atlanta, Dr. A. T. Pierson, of Brooklyn, Canon Cody, of Toronto, Rev. J. Stuart Holden, of London, Rev. G. A. Johnston-Ross, of Cambridge, and Rev. J. H. Jowett, of Birmingham. Dr. Jowett, who is considered the greatest non-conformist preacher in England to-day, has been invited here for the past twelve years and gave his first address in America last week. His sermon before the young women made a profound impression and many are planning to visit Northfield to hear him. He will speak in the Auditorium next Sunday. Dr. Johnston-Ross will conduct a special series of meetings for ministers, which will be held in the new Chapel given by Mrs. Russell Sage.

On Monday evening 21 stalwart young men, aggregating 3000 pounds, climbed into Newcomb's big automobile for the much talked of "Rubber-neck" tour. In spite of predictions that the tires would blow up or something would break not a thing happened to mar the pleasures of the trip. The trip was out through Natick and return. The citizens of Natick asked a good many questions which were promptly answered. The refreshments the Natick drug stores furnished were pronounced not so good as can be obtained in our own city. The return trip was made in forty minutes. Three lusty cheers expressed the pleasure of the participants of the ride to Mr. Newcomb who kindly gave the use of the automobile.

The base ball team won its third consecutive victory last Saturday, when it turned a seeming defeat into an overwhelming victory. This game was enjoyed by the spectators more than any game of the season. The Oddell Club of Cliftondale were the victims. The batting of Lonergan was a feature. Harold Newcomb celebrated his entrance into the game with a three base hit scoring two men. The score by innings was as follows:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Newton	3	0	0	0	4	3	4	x	—14
Oddell Club	2	0	2	0	0	1	0	—5

Batteries: Newton, Thomas and Lonergan. For Oddell, Upham and Norton.

On July 31st the team plays at Norwood with the Norwood Press club team. The team will leave South Station at 2.07 P. M. and will get off at Norwood Central, which is the nearest station to the grounds.

A number of members and their friends enjoyed a deep sea fishing trip Thursday. Those in the party were Chas. Newcomb, H. H. Hawkins and son Fred, C. E. Josselyn, Sherman Irving, Grant Burrows, H. Morgan, Austin Bunker and H. W. Bascom. The trip was made on the Schooner Letter "D" from Swampscott.

Mrs. William C. Tappen has offered to erect a $50,000 building for the Attleboro, Mass., Association as a memorial to her husband. It will be erected in front of the present gymnasium building. The association canvass was halted by the panic last year.

Tusksloosa, Ala., opened its new $18,000 building last month—a big thing for this small Alabama town, made possible by the devotion and faith of a few men.

CHINAMEN TIPOVER VICTIMS

Tipover victims on the Charles river within the reservation of the Metropolitan park Sunday numbered eight persons, whose canoes turned turtle as a result of recklessness in trying to change seats or in rocking their frail craft. A canoe occupied by two Chinamen and two white women overturned in the middle of the stream near Long bridge. The victims managed to reach the bank unaided, and after partly drying their clothing in the sun all four took an electric car for Boston. Two young men tipped over their canoe early in the afternoon below Norumbega park. One swam ashore and pulled in the canoe to which his companion had secured a hold. Two other young men were tipover victims near Fox Island at 4.30 o'clock. These four were taken to the Metropolitan park police station and given treatment in the emergency room, after which they were able to leave for their homes. Three young women got a wetting from the spray kicked up by a motor boat and went to the station to dry their clothing.

There was a large array of offenders before Judge Kennedy in the police court Monday morning. Karatas Czirras, 30 years old, was several times ejected from the house at 24 Williams street, Newton Upper Falls. Sunday afternoon, where there was being celebrated the wedding of Josef Balkus and Eva Stasontner. Finally he was arrested by Patrolman Fuller, and he paid a fine of $5 for drunkenness. Later four others were arrested for causing trouble at the celebration, and each was fined $10. Frank Raymond, 30, was fined $10 on a charge of disturbance and had a case charging drunkenness placed on file. John J. McDuffey, 37, was fined $10 for disturbance. One other man was fined $5 for drunkenness and two others were given 30 days in the house of correction for similar offenses.

A heating engineer who had been called in consultation by a steam fitter who had a poor working job, said, "The heater seems to be standing around doing nothing." We are glad to say that his remarks were not made of a "WINCHESTER" heater, which always does its work. Smith & Thayer Co., 236 Congress street, Boston, Mass.

MISTAKEN IDEAS ABOUT MUSHROOMS

Mushroom time is here. A visit to the pastures and meadows will make this fact clear, and add to the interest of an article in Suburban Life for August describing the wild mushrooms. Among other things, the author of this article says: "There are some species that cannot easily be mistaken; but the old tests for proving poisonous fungi are not worthy of consideration. Such are: 'If a mushroom exudes milk or changes color when broken, it is dangerous.' 'Look out for a mushroom whose cap will not peel readily.' 'A poisonous mushroom will turn silver black.' It is almost impossible to peel the caps of many of the edible species, while the deadly Amanita, the most poisonous mushroom of all, peels very easily. Many of the most delicious species not only exude milk, but instantly change color when broken; while many of those that are harmful do neither, and even a raw potato will discolor silver."

REV. T. L. COLE RESIGNS

The announcement is made of the resignation of Rev. Thomas L. Cole, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church, Newton Lower Falls.

Rev. Mr. Cole has served as rector of St. Mary's parish eight years. He came here from Stottsburg, N. Y., and had previously been rector of an Episcopal church in Portland, Ore.

During his rectorship at Newton Lower Falls he has resided on Springfield avenue, Wellesley, and has taken an active interest in the affairs of that town, being frequently prominent in town meetings. He was one of the organizers of the Hills and Falls Village Improvement Society of Wellesey. His resignation will probably take effect Oct. 1. He is 52 years of age.

CITY HALL

Mayor Hutchinson has received an invitation from Ex-Gov. John L. Bates to be a special guest at an outing of Bethel church of East Boston, Aug. 6, at Point of Pines, at which President Taft is expected to be a guest.

According to a marriage license returned to city hall Miss Glen Priest, 29 years old, of 31 Emore street, Roxbury, and Joseph Maerz, 25, of Syracuse, N. Y., were married in this city, July 21, by Henry W. Jarvis, a justice of the peace. The bride is the daughter of Julian E. Priest of Roxbury, while the groom is a teacher of music in Syracuse.
